HESS' PEACE BID AND U.S.-BRITISH REFUSAL BARED

Offer to Let England Keep Empire Told.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The story of Adolf Hitler's peace proposals to Great Britain, conveyed by Rudolf Hess, deputy fuehrer of the Nazi party, together with their world-wide diplomatic and military repercussions, was pieced together in fairly comprehensive form for the first time today.

Rudolf Hess.

Hess' parachute descent in Scotland on May 10 precipitated an extraordinary concatenation of events which was climaxed on Monday with the occupation of Iceland by American marines and President Roosevelt's announcement that the United States navy will protect Atlantic shipping lanes from German war craft.

Roosevelt Challenged to Tell.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], leader of the congressional noninterventionists, alluded to the Hess mission in a cryptic statement challenging President Roosevelt to tell the American people that Germany's peace proposals included preservation of the British fleet and the British empire intact.

[Senator Wheeler was forced to cancel a speech scheduled in the Atlanta municipal auditorium Thursday night after city officials refused use of the building. Wheeler said he would speak in Atlanta despite the city officials. Details on page 2.]

This was half of a double barreled challenge flung at the White House by Wheeler. He also challenged Mr. Roosevelt to ask congress for a declaration of war in order that there might be unity in this country—for war if congress should vote for war, for peace if congress should vote for peace.

Wheeler Replies to Criticism.

Wheeler's second challenge was provoked by a White House announcement that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill had protested formally in a note received by the state department that Wheeler's prediction of the occupation of Iceland by American troops had jeopardized the lives of British soldiers on the island.

Senator Wheeler replied that Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress must have been equally fraught with peril to the lives of the British troops, as they had not left Iceland when the American occupation was announced.

"New Deal spokesmen are saying we ought to leave the question of whether we have war or peace up to the President," said Senator Wheeler. "The President on many occasions has shown that he does not think the American people are to be trusted with information vitally affecting the question of whether their lives or the lives of their sons are to be sacrificed upon the battlefields of Europe, Asia, or Africa.

Hess Question Raised.

"For instance, I am informed that the administration knows all about the Hess peace proposals to Great Britain. The administration doesn't tell the people that they included preserving the British navy and the British empire.

"If England and the British navy are our first line of defense, wouldn't it be to our interest that our people should know the facts before they are asked to sacrifice their sons and their money to defend something which can be accomplished without such sacrifices?"

Inquiry disclosed that this statement by Senator Wheeler was based on information possessed by him and other senators, including some members of the foreign relations committee with close state department contacts. According to these senators, there is no question about the truth of the story in its essentials, regardless of official denials in both Washington and London.

Here Is the Story.

The story, as told by the senators, follows:

Hitler had determined to go to war with Russia and had made impossible demands on Stalin when he commissioned Hess, his pro-British,

DRAWING TO FIX CALL ORDER OF 750,000 YOUTHS

House Debates Year Limit on Service.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—As approximately 750,000 youths awaited a second draft lottery, fixed for July 17, congress today engaged in heated debate about selective service act amendments during which the charge was repeatedly voiced that President Roosevelt is betraying the nation by leading it into war.

Speaker Rayburn.

The new lottery date was set by selective service officials to determine the order of new registrants, including all who have become 21 years of age since the previous registration. Red capsules, instead of the white pellets used in the first drawing, will be plucked from the old goldfish bowl used in the World war drawing.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, one of the administration's leading interventionists, has been invited to draw the first number. Elaborate ceremonies, such as accompanied the first drawing on Oct. 29, 1940, are scheduled.

Review War Activities.

The landing of marines in Iceland; the war department demand for extension of the one year service period for draftees and lifting of the ban on expeditionary forces abroad; the assertion of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox that the navy should be used to clear the Atlantic of German warcraft—all these were assailed violently as war acts of the administration.

The measure before the members was the bill deferring military training for men 28 years old and over, and also authorizing the President to order military seizure of arms factories where strikes hamper production.

Block Move to Delay Bill.

An attempt, in which some Democratic leaders participated, was made to delay consideration of this bill, but on a test vote, 217 to 148, the chamber decided to take it up. The legislation then became the vehicle for debate on all recent administration steps affecting the foreign policy of the United States.

The controversy found Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas aligned for the first time against the President in an important legislative proposal. Rayburn said he opposed retention of selective service conscripts beyond the one year period as proposed by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff.

"We have made a contract with selectees," he said, "which provides for their staying in service for one year. We should not break that contract."

Would Keep Guardsmen.

Rayburn, however, said he is not opposed to extending the terms of National Guardsmen now in federal service. He suggested an amendment to the selective service act which would permit drafted men to volunteer for longer service.

This statement confused a large number of Democrats who have been accustomed to follow the speaker's lead, as draftees already are per-

LISBON, Portugal, July 9 (AP).—The liner Carvalho Araujo sailed for the Azores today with the third contingent of Portuguese troops to be sent there in as many months. President General Oscar de Fragoso Carmona is to visit the Azores soon.

[Portugal protested to the United States in a note made public June 12 against President Roosevelt's statement in his May 27 speech that German control of the Cape Verde and Azores Islands could endanger America. The Portuguese note insisted that Portugal would defend the islands.]

SOVIET ATTACKS RETARD 3 HEAVY NAZI OFFENSIVES

Russia this morning declared that the Red army was sapping the striking power of the German war machine. The Russian high command admitted that new German mechanized drives had been launched toward Leningrad, Moscow, and the Ukraine, but declared these Nazi efforts were being retarded with heavy German losses. Elsewhere the soviet troops were said to be holding their positions.

Adolf Hitler, who edits the German high command's communiques, merely announced that "the fights continue successfully on the entire eastern front." Other German sources, as well as the Finnish high command, claimed gains in the direction of Leningrad.

FRENCH APPEAL FOR ARMISTICE; FIGHT GOES ON

Attackers Close In on Beirut.

BULLETIN.

New York, July 10 (Thursday) (AP).—The British radio reported early today that a British ultimatum addressed to Gen. Henri Dentz, French commander, to surrender Beirut, Lebanese capital, had expired and that British forces were closing in on that capital.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Unconditional surrender of Syria by France probably will be demanded by Britain, military circles said tonight, following announcement that Gen. Henri Dentz, French high commissioner, had appealed for armistice terms.

France's request to end the "grievous bloodshed" was delivered to the house of commons by Prime Minister Churchill following its receipt from the United States consul at Beirut, Cornelius Van H. Engert.

Fighting still was going on, with British and "Free French" forces approaching Beirut, capital of Lebanon, along the coast.

The exact terms for settlement of the month old war were not disclosed, but they were reported to have been received in Vichy and telephoned to Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan, who is in Paris.

Welcomes Negotiations.

"I need hardly say how very glad his majesty's government will be to see an end brought to this distressing conflict in which 1,000 to 1,500 British, Australian, and Indian soldiers who volunteered or joined the army in order to defend France have fallen, killed or wounded under French bullets," Churchill said. "We welcome these negotiations and I trust they may reach a speedy conclusion. Pending any formal arrangements being made, military operations must, of course, continue unabated."

Thru full surrender, it was believed, Britain would eliminate Vichy influences from Syria and lay the groundwork for fulfilling its pledge of independence for the country given when the British and "Free French" forces marched into the French mandate on June 8.

At that time Britain charged that it could not tolerate German infiltration into Syria, which, it was said, already had begun and which would "bring Syria and Lebanon under full German control" if it were not halted.

[A communique issued in Vichy, France, said the armistice was sought because the combat was getting "more unequal" daily, and it was impossible to reenforce the French troops.]

"Free French" May Take Over.

In political and diplomatic circles it was believed Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the "Free French" movement, would furnish representatives to negotiate the armistice and establish an intermediary government during the period before independence is granted. Capt. Oliver Lyttelton, recently appointed minister of state and British war cabinet representative in the middle east, it was understood, will take over the armistice talks as his first task.

London newspapers saw in the end of the Syrian war prestige for Britain; some relief for Libya where German forces are being held at bay; an avenue for aid to Russia; a revival of confidence in a British victory among the Turks, and much valuable war equipment.

British Near Beirut.

WITH AUSTRALIAN FORCES OUTSIDE BEIRUT, Lebanon, July 9 (AP).—French troops withdrawing from the Damour line fell back toward Beirut today and Australian patrols advanced to within five miles of that capital without encountering resistance.

This was the situation as news reached the front that Gen. Henri Dentz, Syrian governor, had asked armistice terms after a month's fighting. No cease firing order was given, but since the French pulled out of their orange grove defenses and fell back there was only an occasional bang of artillery fire to be heard.

Finns Disclose List of Broken Soviet Pledges

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 9.—The Finnish government, headed by President Risto Ryti and Prime Minister Johan Rangell, today published an official "Blue-White" book revealing to the inhabitants of Finland and the world a long list of soviet violations of pledges contained in the peace treaty of March 12, 1940.

President Ryti.

The government told how Moscow followed a policy of tempting Finland to acts which would give Russia a pretext for a second attack on the little state of 4,000,000 population which held off the nation of 170,000,000 in a desperate 14 weeks' war.

Censorship Prevents Revolt.

Many concessions which the Finnish government was obliged to make to avert further aggression were disclosed for the first time. An official of the foreign office told THE TRIBUNE that the close censorship applied to the Finnish press since the peace treaty was signed was a necessity.

If the Finnish public had learned how the peace agreement had been violated, of the provocations, and of the concessions made, he said, demonstrations and incidents would have occurred which would have made it difficult to maintain public order and preserve peace with Russia.

The Finnish government said that the peace treaty it was forced to sign with Russia was merely regarded as an armistice by the soviet government, which on several occasions presented ultimative notes to Finland.

Citizens Kidnaped.

These were some of the disclosures and charges made in the Finnish document:

The Red army advanced into ceded territory before the stipulated time, kidnaping many Finnish soldiers and citizens, most of whom have not been released from soviet prisons or places of exile.

Moscow bullied the Finnish government into the demilitarization of the Aaland Islands in the Gulf of Bothnia between Finland and Sweden.

The soviet forced the Finnish government to desist from its efforts to form a defensive alliance with the Scandinavian countries.

Forced Work in Mills.

The Red army compelled the Finnish engineering staffs to help the Russians start operation of Finland's great paper and pulpwood mills in the ceded areas, refusing to allow them to return home and did not pay them.

Moscow attempted to make Finland pay war reparations in violation of the peace treaty terms.

City Children Taste of Joy at Algonquin

BY JUANITA DALY.

Sun tanned and pounds heavier, 200 Chicago youngsters have returned home from a two weeks' vacation to spread the fame of Camp Algonquin, the United Charities camp on the Fox river, northwest of Chicago. Their places are being taken by 200 other children from the city's congested districts, to many of whom the feel of grass under bare feet is an unknown thrill.

With them the returning children brought copies of the camp's newspaper in which a representative of each of the nine units at Algonquin had "written up" the outstanding events of the two weeks of fresh air and freedom from city pavements, heat, and noise.

Tell Meaning of Camp.

These news items, all in the simple, direct language of childhood—a childhood now wistfully aware of the joys of nature—reflect the meaning of the camp to the youngsters. Here are some of them:

Board of Trade unit—"Early each morning we go down to the piano house for flag raising. Immediately after this we have our breakfast which no doubt is oatmeal. When our activities are over we go to take our showers—sometimes hot, sometimes cold, but we don't care because swimming comes next. In the afternoon we usually go for a hike. Last Thursday we crossed the river in rowboats, then walked until we came to a lot of trees—there were so many different kinds, I can't name them all. We ate all sorts of good things, such as apples, cherries, mulberries, and others. Then we came back to supper. After eating all we could we had a straw and hay fight. Soon it was time for bed. We said our prayers and slept and thought of the day ahead."

Unit Founds a Museum.

Patton unit No. 1—"Our unit has started a museum. It was begun in accordance with our pledge to study the secrets of nature. All parts of the collection are contributed by the girls in our cottage. Our unit is proud that it has three girls who have blue ribbons for swimming. Others have passed red and white ribbon tests."

Harlowarden South and North are the two units for the undernourished children who have been sent to camp for the summer, or at least until they have grown stronger and healthier. The South unit reported that "we entertained all of the children on the hill at a marshmallow roast. We had a huge bonfire. There were nearly 80 children and we had so much fun."

Something Is Going to Happen.

The other Harlowardens, after describing a trip to see the chickens and pigs, wrote mysteriously: "Watch Harlowarden—something is going to happen soon."

Mothers who need rest accompany each group of children to the camp for the two weeks' stay.

TRIBUNE readers who would like to contribute to the support of Camp Algonquin are urged to send their gifts to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower. All donations will be gratefully acknowledged in these columns.

MEASURE PAVING WAY FOR SLUM CLEARANCE SIGNED BY GOV. GREEN

Springfield, Ill., July 9 [Special].—Gov. Dwight Green today signed the neighborhood redevelopment corporation bill. He acted after getting an opinion from Attorney General George F. Barrett upholding the constitutionality of the measure.

The act permits municipalities to set up redevelopment commissions under which privately financed corporations will be permitted to condemn property for slum clearance projects. The condemnation power can be used only after a corporation has acquired 60 per cent of its building site and has received approval for its project from the municipal commission.

DONOVAN WILL BE CO-ORDINATOR OF U. S. INTELLIGENCE

Washington, D. C., July 9 [Special].—William [Wild Bill] Donovan, who traveled widely in Europe as special observer for President Roosevelt before Germany overran the Balkans, soon will be named to a post as coordinator of intelligence information gathered by government agencies. The post will be a civilian one and will not carry a military title.

It is understood Donovan's nomination will be sent to the senate tomorrow and that soon afterward the President will issue an order establishing the division Donovan is to head.

W-G-N to Open F-M Programs in Two Weeks

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Authority to construct a frequency modulation [F-M] radio station immediately was granted to W-G-N, Inc., yesterday by the Federal Communications commission in Washington, D. C. The FCC order authorized W-G-N, Inc., to construct station W59C, to operate on a frequency of 45.9 megacycles, with temporary transmitting power of 1,000 watts.

F-M broadcasting is the new technique in radio which brings listeners greatly increased fidelity in reception and reduces static and man made interferences to a minimum. It is particularly suited for the transmission of music and can convey the full range of sound audible to the human ear.

Programs in Two Weeks.

Station W59C, it is expected, will be on the air with regular programs in about two weeks, Carl J. Meyers, chief engineer of W-G-N, announced yesterday. It will be the second F-M station for Chicago, W51C, owned and operated by the Zenith Radio corporation, on 45.1 megacycles, is on the air daily from 8:30 a. m. to 1 a. m.

W59C's transmitter will be installed on the 29th floor of Tribune Tower, with temporary antennæ atop the Tower. Meanwhile W-G-N will go ahead with plans for a 50 kilowatt station, for which the transmitter already has been ordered. Meyers said that he expected that the high powered F-M station would be ready for service in December.

According to Meyers, the new F-M station will carry mainly fine musical programs and other features demonstrating the superiorities and advantages of the new system. Details of the schedule have not been worked out, but Meyers estimated that possibly 10 hours of programs daily would be aired at the beginning.

Supplementary to W-G-N.

The programs will be supplementary in nature to those on W-G-N. Superior musical programs not now carried on any other standard station in Chicago will be broadcast.

The 1,000 watt transmitter is expected to provide good coverage over most of Cook county. The range of F-M is more limited than that of standard type broadcasting. F-M broadcasts cannot be received on ordinary radio sets. About 4,000 F-M receivers already have been distributed in this area, providing an audience of around 20,000.

DOWNSTATE VOTE OPPOSES WAR BY 4 TO 1 MAJORITY

BY PERCY WOOD.

First downstate returns in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S war poll, tabulated yesterday, were precisely in line with the trend already established in Cook county—disclosing a majority of about four to one against intervention.

Voters in six of the seven cities polled replied "No," with varying emphasis, to the question which is being asked 257,484 citizens of Illinois: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?"

Seventh City's Vote Indecisive.

This was the trend in Aurora, Bloomington, Danville, Galesburg, Peoria, and Rockford. Returns from the seventh city, East St. Louis, showed 15 votes for war and seven for peace on the first group of ballots received. More substantial returns will be required to determine whether this is representative sentiment. Cairo and Springfield remain to be heard from.

Including those from East St. Louis, a total of 1,059 downstate ballots had been received last night, with these results:

Yes [for war]: 193, or 18.22 per cent.

No [against war]: 857, or 80.93 per cent.

Spoiled or unmarked ballots totaled 9, or .85 per cent.

More Suburban Ballots In.

Meanwhile a second report was received from the 30 country townships in Cook county included in the poll which lent additional weight to the preponderant antiwar sentiment displayed by the first suburban returns published yesterdsay.

With 3,823 suburban ballots in, the results showed:

Yes [for war]: 503, or 13.16 per cent.

No [against war]: 3,311, or 86.61 per cent.

Spoiled or unmarked ballots totaled 9, or .23 per cent.

Yesterday's mail also brought an additional 7,160 ballots from Chicago voters, who, like the downstaters, were sent ballots on the basis of every 10th name on the polling lists. The city total was thus raised to 24,212 votes, with these results:

Yes [for war]: 4,704, or 19.43 per cent.

No [against war]: 19,283, or 79.64 per cent.

State Votes "No" by 80.60%.

The state-wide percentages last night were as follows: for war, 18.56 per cent; against war, 80.60 per cent, with the remaining .84 per cent accounted for in spoiled or unmarked ballots.

Aside from East St. Louis, the lowest downstate anti-war percentage in the first returns, 66.67, was registered in Peoria, a heavily industrial town. All the others, except Danville, were polling noninterventionist percentages running in the 80's. Aurora was highest, with 89.44 per cent, and Galesburg second, with 88.26 per cent.

Congressmen representing the districts in which today's cities are located are Chauncey W. Reed, Aurora; Leslie C. Arends, Bloomington; Miss Jessie Sumner, Danville; Edwin M. Schaefer, East St. Louis; Robert M. Chiperfield, Galesburg; Everett M. Dirksen, Peoria, and Noah M. Mason, Rockford. All except Schaefer are Republicans.

A poll of New York state on the same question, conducted by the New York News, showed 31.3 per cent for war and 68.7 for peace last night.

War Poll Results in City, Suburbs, and Downstate

Following are the results of the balloting, to date, on THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S poll on the question: "Shall the United States Enter the War to Help Britain Defeat Hitler?"

ATLANTA BLOCKS 'AMERICA FIRST' ANTI-WAR RALLY

Wheeler Barred from Using Auditorium.

Wheeler to Defy Ban

Washington, D. C., July 9 [Special].—"I intend to speak in Atlanta against the effort to get the United States into war if I have to speak in a barn," Senator Burton K. Wheeler declared here tonight when informed that Atlanta authorities had refused him the municipal auditorium for a meeting. "I intend to exercise my rights of freedom of speech despite the Georgia interventionists."

Atlanta, Ga., July 9 [Special].—A showdown on the right of free speech in Atlanta was in the making tonight following refusal of city officials to allow Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] to use the Municipal auditorium tomorrow night to make an anti-war address under auspices of the America First committee. This forced postponement of the speech.

O. K. Armstrong, field representative of the committee, said he was informed by Mayor Roy Lecraw that in his opinion "90 per cent of the people of Atlanta not only do not agree with Senator Wheeler's viewpoint but do not want him to speak in Atlanta."

Hall Reserved in Advance.

Announcement that the senator would speak here tomorrow was made by Armstrong last week after, he said, he had engaged the auditorium for that day and had been informed by the building superintendent, Burt Wellborn, that the reservation was in order.

"Last Monday," Armstrong related, "I was informed by Wellborn that some members of the city council had objected to use of the auditorium by Senator Wheeler and the America First committee.

"After a long conference with Mayor Lecraw and members of the council building committee, they all told me that permission to use the auditorium had been withdrawn because of some opposition that had developed."

Public Hearing Demanded.

Armstrong said the mayor contended there must be a public hearing on the matter, inasmuch as a controversial issue was involved.

"You will be given a hearing, and if you can convince our committee that we should let the auditorium for this purpose, then you will get it," the mayor was quoted by Armstrong. "Otherwise not."

The city council referred the matter to its building committee, which does not meet until July 18. Because no other large hall was available on short notice, Senator Wheeler's scheduled appearance had to be canceled.

WAR ADVOCATES' N. Y. STRONGHOLD TOPPLES IN POLL

New York, July 9 [Special].—America's melting pot and so-called hotbed of interventionism—the island of Manhattan—stands solidly against going into the war to help Britain beat Hitler.

The New York News postcard poll, in which 77,494 citizens have voted so far, placed Manhattan firmly in the isolation column today when 12,896 new votes included 234 from the 22d Assembly district. All 23 districts now have been sampled, and the borough as a whole shows a "No" vote of 63.7 per cent on the question: "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?"

Manhattan, or New York county, has been the scene of the war advocates' strongest threat, but the latest returns have erased their hope for a state-wide victory for war.

Following are the state-wide results to date:

	Yes. Votes.	Per cent.	No. Votes.	Per cent.
City totals	20,787	31.9	44,296	68.1

CHARGES KNOX SPURNED OFFER FOR SUB RESCUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] tonight accused Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox of "disgraceful" conduct in refusing to consider an offer by Dr. William Beebe, noted scientist, to use his famous bathysphere in an attempt to rescue the 33 officers and men who lost their lives aboard the submarine O-9.

Dr. William Beebe.

The O-9, an obsolete World war submarine that had just been recommissioned, went to the bottom in 440 feet of water off Portsmouth, N. H., on June 20, and all attempts of navy divers to reach the vessel were futile.

Tells of Beebe Offer.

Senator Clark said he had been informed that Dr. Beebe offered to use his bathysphere in an attempt to reach the submarine when it first went down. Clark added he was told that Secretary Knox, to whom the offer was directed, did not reply to Dr. Beebe.

Dr. Beebe, a noted ornithologist and marine explorer, holds the world diving record of 3,208 feet, which he established with his bathysphere off Nonesuch Island in the Bermudas in 1934. The bathysphere, a spherical diving bell designed by Dr. Beebe, enables the scientist to remain on the bottom of the ocean for hours at a time studying marine life.

"In the first place," said Senator Clark, "it was perfectly disgraceful of Secretary Knox to put the men in an obsolete submarine when he was giving away to Great Britain the finest submarines that can be produced, as was pointed out by the father of one of the boys.

Calls It "Outrage."

"In the second place, having done that, it seems to me to have been an outrageous dereliction of duty not even to have responded to an offer by such a distinguished scientist as Dr. Beebe of the use of his bathysphere, the practicability of which has been many times demonstrated."

The father referred to by Senator Clark was Thomas W. Tillery, a California ranchman, whose son, Thomas Jr., lost his life in the O-9. The elder Tillery wrote a letter to President Roosevelt asserting that his son was crushed to death aboard an "outdated, unseaworthy craft" at a time when "the modern products of America's defense effort are being given to a foreign power."

Valor to Be Rewarded

THREE HEROES TO GET AWARDS AT THRILL SHOW

One Is Fireman; Two Are Policemen.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Outstanding heroes of three services renowned for their valor—the Chicago fire department and the city and park police—will be given their awards at the fourth annual Chicago Police and Fire Thrill show in Soldiers' field next Sunday afternoon.

The heroes are:

Fireman Patrick Driscoll, engine company 43, whom the civil service commission has just chosen to receive the Lambert Tree gold medal for bravery.

A Plunge Thru Flames.

Driscoll is 31 years old. He lives at 1853 Eddy street. He plunged thru the flames which followed an explosion in a chemical plant at 3430 Henderson street last Aug. 17 to rescue Fireman Charles Harrsch of his own company.

Hoffman lives at 4745 North Washtenaw avenue. He is 31. He was on the park patrol boat Victory last Aug. 8 when the boat raced to the aid of a burning yacht in Lake Michigan. A woman, unable to swim, was clinging to a rope on the side of the blazing vessel. The flames were so high that the patrol boat could not approach. Leaping into the water, Hoffman swam to the woman, took her from the vessel, and swam back with her to the patrol boat.

Sergt. Curtin's Record.

Curtin, winner of THE TRIBUNE hero award in 1927, was accosted by an ex-convict bandit on March 8 last year. The bandit opened fire, wounding Curtin. Lying on the sidewalk, Curtin shot and wounded the bandit so severely that the robber was later captured. Curtin was wounded four times. The battle won Curtin his second TRIBUNE hero award. Curtin is 46. He lives at 4637 Drexel boulevard.

Thrill show enthusiasts include James Hughes Sr., retired fire captain, and his six fireman sons, who bought their tickets yesterday.

The police and firemen gave another stirring preview of the thrill show yesterday in the best rehearsal of the week. Tickets are on sale at Gate O, the south entrance to Soldiers' field, and from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily at THE TRIBUNE public service office, Dearborn and Madison streets.

U. S. RESERVE GENERAL RESIGNS BY REQUEST AFTER TAKING FEES

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Congress was told today that the war department had accepted the requested resignation of a former reserve general—not on active duty—who had received consultant fees from armament contractors.

Julius L. Amberg, special assistant to Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, testified before a house military subcommittee that the resignation of Brig. Gen. R. C. Marshall had been accepted July 3.

Brig. Gen. Brehon Somervell, army construction chief, told the committee records showed Marshall accepted $31,816.67 from six companies since last summer. Somervell said Marshall declared the money had nothing to do with obtaining contracts.

FLAMES DESTROY 2 BUILDINGS.

Flames destroyed two store and flat buildings at 5137-39 South Halsted street yesterday. Second Deputy Fire Marshal Michael Cody estimated the damage at $8,000.

87,000 TRAINED UNDER CIVILIAN PILOT PROGRAM

Brig. Gen. Donald H. Connolly, administrator of the Civil Aeronautics authority, said yesterday that 87,000 student aviators have been given primary flight training in the last 18 months under the CAA program. Instruction was given to 707 college units and 200 noncollege units.

Brig. Gen. Connolly.

Graduates, the general added, have been volunteering for army and navy service at the rate of 200 a week since March. Only 21 of the candidates have been killed in accidents.

"This low death record is attributable to the sincere safety efforts of instructors," Gen. Connolly said. "Three years ago a $3,000 insurance policy would have cost a student pilot $35. The new rate now is $7.20 and includes $1,000 for hospital and medical care."

2 SALESMEN ROBBED OF JEWELRY.

Two sample cases containing jewelry valued at $700 were taken yesterday by two bandits from Lowell Shaw, 25 years old, and Robert Larson, 26, salesman for a jewelry concern at 202 South State street. They were robbed in an alley at the rear of 3340 Jackson boulevard.

How to Get Up Easily in the Morning

by DALE CARNEGIE

For years the process of getting out of bed in the morning was almost a torture. The song, "Oh, how I hate to get up in the morning," failed to describe the morning agony I endured for years. Finally, I evolved three rules which, if applied, should help you to get out of bed more easily.

RULE 1: Act quickly. I discovered years ago that it isn't difficult to get out of bed. It is merely difficult to START to get out. Once you have planted your two feet on the floor and started to move—the rest is duck soup.

RULE 2: Don't attempt to beat the demands of nature. If your body requires eight hours of sleep, don't try to get by on six. Nature won't listen to your alibis. Nature has no ears. You must obey her demands or pay the penalty. Go to bed early enough to get the sleep your body needs.

RULE 3: If possible, sleep one hour before dinner. A nap at that time will not only enable you to stay up two hours later that night; but it will also enable you to get out of bed the next morning with less difficulty.

A famous old proverb says: "A good start is half the battle." Well, when it comes to getting out of bed in the morning, a good start is far more than half the battle; it is about ninety per cent of the battle.* So act quickly. Don't indulge in self-pity. Don't agonize. Don't say: "This is going to be terrible. Oh, if I only had five more minutes."

A CRETE AIRMAN ASSAILS BRITISH ARMS SHORTAGE

Flyer Leads Criticism in Commons Debate.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—A debate on war production rocked the house of commons today. Criticism was led by Lieut. R. A. Brabner, a new Conservative member, just back from Crete. He wore the uniform of the fleet air arm and he spoke as a warrior-critic who had escaped from the island in an "extremely battered aircraft" just before German parachutists landed.

"In Greece, Crete, Libya, and Syria there has been an almost chronic lack of the most important war materials," Brabner charged in his maiden speech. "It sounds incredible, but when we were at Malemi [the airdrome at Canea, capital of Crete] we rarely were in a position to put more than two aircraft into the air for a continuous patrol during daylight hours."

Eight to ten Bofors anti-aircraft guns were knocked out at Malemi, he added, because of the lack of heavy anti-aircraft guns.

Tanks Too Slow and Too Few.

In Greece, Brabner said, "70 to 80 per cent of our tanks broke down before they saw the enemy." He complained that the tanks were too slow and too few.

Laborite G. M. Garro-Jones had opened the debate by demanding that the production of heavy tanks of 50 tons and up be given special attention. He charged that "countless modifications," including more than 5,000 changes on one model alone, have held up production of tanks and caused an enormous waste of time and labor. He also complained that no less than 30 types of planes had been purchased from the United States, instead of concentrating on standard types, and criticized Prime Minister Winston Churchill for "carrying loyalty too far" in supporting incompetent administrators.

Demands Central Control.

Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, demanded central control of production, saying that in one aircraft factory 2,000 men were thrown out of work for five months "owing to failure to plan properly" in changing over from one machine to another.

Austin Hopkinson, Nationalist, himself a manufacturer of aircraft, criticized the work done by the ministry of aircraft production under Lord Beaverbrook, now supply minister, saying he sympathized with Beaverbrook's successor, Lieut. Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon, "in his superhuman task of cleaning out the Augean stable."

"Aircraft production has been nothing but a cheap newspaper stunt since the beginning of last year," Hopkinson charged. "The goods were not there and they are not being delivered yet. Not a single airplane that took part in the battle of Britain has been manufactured as the result of the efforts of the late minister of aircraft production."

Takes Slap at Bevin, Too.

Hopkinson also took a slap at Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, saying, "It is most unwise to make minister of labor a man who was himself an unskilled laborer."

Harold Macmillan, parliamentary secretary for the ministry of supply, defended arms production. He said the output of both guns and tanks had increased 100 per cent over the last quarter of 1940; that the machine tool industry output was six times the normal peacetime level, and that the labor force employed in ordnance factories had doubled between January and June.

He promised that the slogan of the new minister of supply, Beaverbrook, would be "More shells, more guns, more tanks—above all, more tanks."

HESS PROMOTED TO HIGHEST WAR PRISONER STATUS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Rudolf Hess has been promoted to the highest rank of prisoner in war time. He has become a "prisoner of state," it was revealed tonight.

The former deputy fuehrer of Germany who flew from Germany to Scotland at first was regarded as a military prisoner but later was graded as a civilian prisoner. He still is under detention "somewhere in the country."

The Daily Express, analyzing Hess' new status, says that the government's decision to treat him as a state prisoner "solves many difficulties." If he had been detained as a military prisoner, it is pointed out, "he would have been paid by the country under The Hague rules at a rate corresponding to what he would have been paid in Germany. Then what we had disbursed as an officer's salary would have been refunded by Germany after the war."

A prisoner of state, The Express admits, is "entitled to privileges." Without specifying the nature of the privileges, it adds, "but whether Hess will get them is not known."

BOMBERS OF U. S. BEAT OUR OWN, BRITISH ASSERT

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, July 9 (AP).—British test pilots said today after rigid tryouts that American made four motored Boeing [B17C] bombers are "definitely better" than new British Stirling and Halifax planes of comparable size.

The Boeings have a maximum speed of about 305 miles an hour, a range of 2,000 miles, and a bomb load of four tons. Pilots said they are fast enough to escape attack by anything except the fastest German interceptors.

They also praised without reservation the American made Douglas [DB7] two motored night fighter as the "heaviest armed fighter in the world" and one of the fastest big planes ever made. It has a speed of approximately 350 miles an hour.

BROTHER TREATED FOR SNAKEBITE.

SHIP TORPEDOED; CHICAGO NURSE AMONG MISSING

Miss Dorothea Louise Koehn, Chicago nurse, was among six American Red Cross nurses reported missing yesterday in a torpedo attack on a British vessel taking them to England for hospital service. Four other nurses aboard the ship were rescued after drifting at sea for ten days.

Miss Koehn, 35 years old, lived at 5229 Harper avenue before she left for England several weeks ago. She was a graduate of Michael Reese hospital and had been head nurse at Sunset summer camp, Bartlett, Ill. Her parents live in Oshkosh, Wis.

The vessel was torpedoed about two weeks ago, Red Cross officials announced at Washington, D. C. Identity of the ship and location of the attack were kept secret, but it was disclosed that the vessel left a gulf coast port June 5.

Five Others Missing.

The others missing are Phyllis L. Evans, Everett, Mass.; Helen Jurewicz, South Amboy, N. J.; Dorothy C. Morse, Boston, Mass.; Nancie M. Pett, Detroit, Mich., and Margaret I. Somerville, Catskill, N. Y.

Miss Koehn was graduated from the Oshkosh High school and came to Chicago in 1927 to enter training at Michael Reese hospital. Two years ago she won a scholarship which enabled her to take special training at Gallinger Memorial hospital in Washington in the treatment of communicable diseases.

Just Over Operation.

"Dorothea underwent a serious operation shortly before she sailed and was advised by her family not to make the trip," her sister, Miss Goldie Koehn said at the family home in Oshkosh, "but she was so thrilled over the honor of being chosen that she went anyway. We feel confident that she will be found."

Her roommate, Miss Helen Soos, who lives at the Harper street address, said she received a letter from Miss Koehn which had been mailed in Bermuda.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

KNOX, WILLKIE PUSH DRIVE FOR SHOOTING WAR

Navy Has Chief's Orders, Says Secretary.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Two simultaneous pronouncements in Washington today left little room for doubt that the Roosevelt administration has decided to take the United States into a shooting war with the axis powers.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox said at his press conference that President Roosevelt's orders to the navy call for shooting if necessary to clear the Atlantic shipping lanes of German war craft.

Urges Bases in Ireland.

Wendell L. Willkie, 1940 Republican Presidential candidate, said after a conference with President Roosevelt at the White House that American naval bases should be established in Northern Ireland or Scotland if necessary to insure unmolested delivery of war munitions to Britain.

Altho Willkie said he spoke for himself only, Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], leader of the senate non-interventionists, charged that he was playing the part of a stooge for President Roosevelt.

"The establishment of naval bases in Northern Ireland or Scotland as part of a vast scheme to take the country into a shooting war has been contemplated by the administration for some time," said Senator Wheeler. "Willkie is flying a trial balloon for the President. The same plan calls for the occupation of the Azores and Cape Verde Islands if Britain can obtain the consent of Portugal, which so far has not been forthcoming.

Naval Pool Predicted.

"The occupation of Iceland and the President's order for the navy to clear the Atlantic shipping lanes were the first steps in a complex plan to pool the American and British navies in the war with Germany and Italy. This was what Winston Churchill [British prime minister] had in mind today when he said the American and British navies would coöperate in 'very dangerous waters.'"

This prediction by Senator Wheeler, who accurately forecast the occupation of Iceland, strikingly paralleled Willkie's proposals after his conference with President Roosevelt. The occupation of Iceland, Willkie said, "is, in my judgment, the first of similar steps that ought to be taken." Willkie said it would be better to give England no help at all than to give "mere lip service." Arguing that it is "vital to keep the sea lanes open to Britain," he said that from 10 to 15 per cent of American war materials now being shipped are lost en route.

Losses Only 4 Per Cent.

Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the United States maritime commission, recently reported to the senate that less than 4 per cent of such shipments were lost during the first four months of this year.

At his press conference, Secretary Knox said President Roosevelt had told the navy what to do if it became necessary to shoot to clear the sea lanes to Iceland and other strategic outposts in the Atlantic of German war craft.

Knox refused to use the word "shoot," but when asked whether the President's message called for shooting if necessary to clear the ocean lanes, he replied: "It certainly does.

The senate naval affairs committee will decide tomorrow whether to call Knox for questioning about the navy's orders and about published reports that American war vessels already have dropped depth charges on German submarines. A resolution by Senator Wheeler requests such an investigation.

Policemen on Trial in Shakedown

Deny Charges

Police Sergeant Raymond Nelligan and Policemen James E. Ryan and James J. McDonald of the Kensington station, appearing before the city civil service commission yesterday, denied charges of extracting a bribe of $100 from three men and two women May 18 at the Ceasers club, 11538 Front avenue. The three policemen were suspended June 18 by Commissioner Allman on the basis of the charges.

The five persons who said they were arrested in the raid refused to testify on advice of their attorney, Edward W. Barrett, until waivers of prosecution were obtained. Barrett said beer was dispensed in the club without a license. The five are Millard Hanusek, 12115 Eggleston avenue; Miss Alice Berry, who has since married Hanusek; Mr. and Mrs. James F. Haley, 11730 Eggleston avenue, and Fred Weigel, 259 East 156th street, Riverdale.

Hanusek said he paid Ryan $100 to prevent a disorderly house charge being made against the club, a private state-chartered organization. The $100 was returned a week later by Nelligan and Ryan, after McDonald called Hanusek back to the police station, the latter testified. The policemen said the five persons went to the police station of their own will, and said no one mentioned any $100.

HESS' PEACE BID AND U. S.-BRITISH REFUSAL BARED

Offer for England Will Keep Empire Told.

Hitler's desire for peace was based on his fear of a long stalemated war, with inevitable American entry on the side of Britain. He was convinced that neither side could win such a war and that the sole victor, should the western powers fight themselves to exhaustion, would be communism.

Hitler's attack on Russia was in part military and economic, in part political. He needed the oil, the grain, the ore, and other raw materials which the Russians were not supplying in sufficient quantities, and he wished to knock out the Russian army in order to insure himself against an ultimate war on two fronts. His political purpose was to appeal to the anti-communist sentiment in both Great Britain and the United States. He shrewdly foresaw a popular revulsion in the United States against forming an alliance with communism in a crusade to establish President Roosevelt's "four freedoms" everywhere in the world.

Aimed At Interventionist Case.

Hitler's peace proposals to Great Britain also were calculated to destroy the main argument for American intervention in the war, the argument that England and the British fleet constitute our first line of defense. Hess told the British that Germany wanted no part of the British empire and no part of the British fleet. He reported that Germany intended to dominate the continent of Europe, but did not wish to undertake the responsibility of maintaining order in the far east, which would be left to Britain.

Hess bluntly told the British that they could not win the war. He gave them appalling figures on the German production of aircraft and other war munitions. The British conceded that if these figures were correct, their prospects would not be encouraging.

Hess, on the other hand, did not boast that Germany could win the war. He argued only that continuation of the struggle would end in a victory for communism.

Secrecy Kept by Churchill.

Prime Minister Churchill rejected all demands that he tell the house of commons and the British people about the Hess affair. Clement Attlee, lord privy seal, and other Laborite members of the government intimated that Hitler was suing for peace because he knew he could not win, but not a word came from Churchill. He did not know what to tell the Germans, because he did not know how far he could rely on President Roosevelt for American assistance in the war.

Accordingly, John G. Winant, American ambassador to Britain, flew home at the end of May for a series of conferences with President Roosevelt. He put the German peace proposals up to the President, and Mr. Roosevelt thereupon was required to choose between peace or war. If the war was to be carried on, Mr. Roosevelt was told, the British must have some tangible evidence of definite military participation by the United States.

Action Follows Decision.

The President's decision, as the world knows, was for continuation of the war. Winant returned to London with a complete report for Churchill on June 21, but in the meantime the word had been communicated by cable. The British government and the allied refugee governments issued a joint manifesto pledging war to the end, with no peace parleys. In the meantime, also, preparations were made for the evidence Churchill demanded of American military assistance—the landing of an expeditionary force in Iceland and the President's order for the navy to keep the Atlantic sea lanes open for the flow of munitions to Britain.

King Cuts Down Smoking as Tobacco Runs Short

LONDON, July 9.—King George has cut down on his use of cigarets because of the shortage of tobacco, Queen Elizabeth revealed while visiting a hostel in London today. "I don't smoke," the queen told the mayor of Shoreditch, "but the king, I know, has cut down his cigaret smoking because of the shortage."

CHURCHILL SEES U. S. AND BRITISH NAVAL LINK SOON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 9.—Full military cooperation between American and British troops in the defense of Iceland probably will be followed by coördinated action by the two navies as the next step in American war policy, Prime Minister Winston Churchill said in the house of commons today.

The premier contradicted President Roosevelt's statement that American troops eventually would relieve the British troops for other purposes in defending Iceland. He said that Britain had no intentions of withdrawing its troops from there.

The prime minister called attention to the fact that now that the United States is extending its lines into the war zone it will have to "sustain and reënforce" the garrisons there, which will necessitate a constant flow of supplies of war materials, food, and munitions.

"These consignments of American supplies for American forces in duty overseas for purposes of the United States will, of course, have to traverse very dangerous waters and, as we have a very large traffic constantly passing thru these waters, it may, I dare say, be found in practice mutually advantageous that the two navies involved should assist each other as far as may be convenient in that part of the waters."

BLITZ TECHNIQUE MEETS A MATCH, RUSSIAN CLAIMS

Says Nazis Used 10,000 Tanks in First Push.

MOSCOW, July 9.—S. A. Lozovsky, vice commissar of foreign affairs, tonight analyzed the German-Russian military situation to date and declared "the German soldier has clashed for the first time with a soldier who is trying to strike back with methods similar to those of the Germans."

"Now the Germans have come against a first class technique and unity," he said. "The war will not end soon, but it will end the way we want it."

Referring to the German army's blitzkrieg strategy, Lozovsky said it had traditional plans tested by the first World war and modified by capable use of a new technique.

Has Standardized Ideas.

The mistake of the German military, he said, is that it has standardized ideas which it attempts to use everywhere against all enemies.

"It was one thing in France, but another here, where the front extends over 2,000 miles. The Germans are good fighters, but they think everything can be obtained by force."

Lozovsky said Germany sent 10,000 tanks into the initial blitzkrieg attack against the Russian lines. He acknowledged the attack had caught the Russians unawares, and that the Nazis had succeeded in quickly wrecking several hundred soviet planes. But, he said, Germany has failed to crush the soviet defenses.

Lozovsky quoted German reports to the newspaper Frankfurter Zeitung to show that the "road to Russia is not yet open."

Reds React Differently.

The report he cited said that the Red army was reacting to the blitzkrieg differently from other armies previously attacked. The Russians, he said, counterattacked and surrounded the German salients instead of fleeing from the battlefield.

Drawing a comparison between France and Russia, Lozovsky said that France was not beaten, but rather was betrayed by its government and high command.

"We have no rupture between the government and command and the Red army and people. It will be a long, complicated, and difficult struggle, but already it is clear now that Germany cannot emerge the victor because it is not enough to have military experience with great tanks and bombers. To win one must have men who know what fighting is for."

Surprise in Washington.

Washington, D. C., July 9 [Special].—For the first time since the Nazi-soviet battle started, army officials today expressed surprise at what they deemed the excellent showing made by the Russians thus far. It was believed that, if present indications are maintained, this may be a long war, and the soviet may expect considerable armaments aid from the United States.

It was reported without confirmation here that five soviet freighters of about 5,000 tons each are in American ports and that others are at sea on the way here.

Halted for Fifth Day.

VICHY, France, July 9 (AP).—Military sources here said tonight that the Germans generally were being held up on the Russian front for the fifth consecutive day.

Reds Battle 3 New Nazi Tank and Mechanized Drives at Leningrad, Moscow and the Ukraine

MOSCOW, July 10 [Thursday] (AP).—Big German tank and mechanized forces are smashing anew at the Russian lines in three main areas, the Red army announced today, and the Russian defenders are holding off offensive drives directed at Leningrad, Moscow, and the Ukraine.

The fighting raged on early this morning. At several points the Russians were engaged in counterattacks. This was the situation as pictured by the soviet communique:

In the Ostrov sector, 180 miles southwest of Leningrad, the Russians were "engaged in stubborn battles pounding back the advance of superior enemy forces" near the Latvian border south of Lake Peipus.

[The Germans claimed the capture of Ostrov yesterday, as well as Viljandi and Parnu, farther west, in Estonia.]

Earlier the Russians disclosed the Germans were pushing a parallel drive south of Ostrov which had reached the area of Sebesh, near the Latvian frontier 80 miles northeast of Dvinsk.

"Decisive Counterattacks."

In the Polotsk sector, 150 miles south of Ostrov and in the general path of an eastward drive toward Moscow, the Germans renewed their offensive Wednesday morning and ran into Russian artillery and machine gun fire and "decisive counterattacks." The Germans were reported suffering heavy losses.

The Russians also carried out "successful counterattacks" in Lepel sector, south of Polotsk and at the head of the Berezina river.

Yesterday the Russians claimed that they were driving the Germans back along the central front before Moscow and said that they had annihilated two Nazi motorized regiments.

In the southern Novograd Volynski sector, near Zhitomir and the Stalin line, and in the path of a German smash eastward toward Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, fierce fighting continued thruout Wednesday with large German mechanized forces engaged.

The Red air force was reported active, bombing Constanta, Rumanian Black sea port, the ports of Tulcea and Sulina on the Danube, and the oil fields of Ploesti.

[The Moscow radio declared all oil centers in Rumania had been "completely destroyed" and the seaport of Constanta "has ceased to exist."]

In air action on Wednesday the Russians said they had destroyed 62 German planes and lost 7 of their own. The figures for Tuesday were reported as 102 German planes destroyed and 10 Russian losses.

The Red army's day communique also made a significant declaration that documents found on captured German officers proved that Nazi artillery batteries had been transferred from the western front in occupied France.

Sent from Dunkirk.

These papers, it was added, showed that artillerymen and equipment had been sent both from Cherbourg and Dunkirk, and that in some instances sham wooden guns were set up in place of those removed.

[This soviet announcement appeared to be a suggestion to the British that Hitler's continental defenses had been dangerously weakened and that a British offensive across the English channel might be feasible.]

OFF COURSE, OUT OF GAS, 3 ARMY BOMBERS CRASH

Fresno, Cal., July 9 (AP).—Three army bombers lost their way on a cross-country flight, ran out of gas and crashed in farmlands around Fresno last night after the crews of two of them bailed out.

The squadron was 200 miles north of its destination, March field, and flying farther from it. One of the $250,000 bi-motored bombers crashed nose first, caught fire and burned. Another pancaked down, tore off a motor and partially burned. The third plane was landed by the pilot with slight damage.

Of five crew members who bailed out only Sergt. C. C. Herron of Savannah, Ga., was injured. His shoulder was hurt, his parachute jerking him as he landed 60 miles from where his plane came to earth.

Herron landed eight miles north of Visalia. Lieut. J. R. Cables, Concordia, Kas., pilot, and Sergt. G. M. Thomas, Knoxville, Tenn., parachuted five miles southeast of Madera. Lieut. H. E. Adams and Corporal S. L. Norwood bailed out four miles south of Madera. Lieut. A. M. Rulison and his plane came to earth near by.

NAZIS ASSAIL U. S. MOVE IN ICELAND; MUM ON REPRISAL

BERLIN, July 9 (AP).—Germany thru an authorized spokesman charged caustically today that United States troops might as well be in a British port as in Iceland from the military point of view, but gave no hint as to whether the American occupation would provoke actual armed retaliation.

"Today it's Iceland," the spokesman said. "Tomorrow Roosevelt may decide that the hemisphere extends to the English Channel or the Volga.

"Roosevelt for a long time has been approaching war and now has moved much closer it."

It was obvious that Berlin was counting on the possibility that the United States might occupy other places. German sources said the Iceland occupation recalled to them with new significance President Roosevelt's speech of May 27 in which he said there was a German threat to Dakar [French West Africa], the Azores, and the Cape Verde Islands.

GERMANS SEIZE 3 TOWNS IN PUSH ON LENINGRAD

Say Russians Build New Defense Line.

BERLIN, July 9 (AP).—With Reichsfuehrer Hitler's headquarters confining itself to a statement that "the fights continue successful on the entire eastern front," other German sources indicated tonight that the German forces in the north were pressing toward Leningrad.

The news agency DNB reported Viljandi and Parnu, in western Estonia, had been occupied, as well as Ostrov, in Russia just east of the Latvian border south of Lake Peipus. The towns fell in the Germans' northeastward push toward Leningrad.

The Germans contended that they were in hot pursuit of the Russians after taking the Baltic towns. At Ostrov, the Russians were said to have attempted to establish a new defense line.

DNB announced that the Russian rear lines suffered heavy blows throughout today, and that the German air force concentrated on the retreating enemy in the Baltic area "with great success."

Silence About Central Sector.

What was happening in the central sector, in the push toward Moscow by way of Smolensk from Minsk, was not disclosed here, but there were numerous reports of bitter fighting at unspecified points along the Stalin line. Bombers left 15 troop and freight trains burning between Polotsk and Nevel.

From the far south there were no military reports, but unofficial sources hinted that there were indications of an internal collapse on the Russian side. A Russian tank counterattack in this sector was acknowledged, but the soviet formations were declared crushed and destroyed.

[Moscow had reported driving German and Rumanian forces back across the Prut river, border between Rumania proper and sovietized Bessarabia.]

At the southern extremity of the transcontinental front German, Rumanian and Hungarian troops apparently were pressing toward Odessa and Kiev in the Ukraine.

Claim of Planes Destroyed.

The German air force reported the destruction of six trains on the Zhitomir-Kiev line, where the trackage was blasted in several places. A two-day toll of 329 Russian planes on the eastern front was reported by DNB. It said 128 planes were downed yesterday and 201 on Monday.

The high command's information service gave glimpses of bitter fighting. Two hundred yards from one town where German troops were resting German anti-tank guns did battle with three Russian tanks, it was stated. The tanks ran over and crushed one anti-tank position.

According to the German story, a young lieutenant at another anti-tank gun shot and set afire all three tanks at a distance of 30 yards. "In and around the tanks," it was stated, "there were about 50 soviet infantrymen. Those who were not burned up were knocked down by shells. Those who reached a nearby grain field were cut off from flight by German shots."

Hungarians at River.

BUDAPEST, July 9 (AP).—Hungarian columns which have crossed Galicia in their eastward advance now are trying to force a crossing of the Zbrucz river, the old boundary between Galicia and the Russian Ukraine, a Hungarian communique said today. The Zbrucz is about 35 miles east of the Seret, which the Hungarians yesterday reported they had crossed.

RESTAURANT, ROBBED OF $30.

Mrs. Edna Engleking, 28 years old, of 1020 Lawrence avenue, cashier in DeMet's store at 314 West Madison street, was forced to surrender $30 from the cash register last night to a well dressed, armed bandit.

FINNS ADVANCE 35 MILES INTO RED TERRITORY

HELSINGFORS, Finland, July 9 (AP).—The Finnish high command announced tonight its troops, supported by the Germans, have driven more than 35 miles into soviet territory. The main goal was Kandalaksha, a vital point on the Murmansk-Leningrad railway. The main 200 mile long offensive in eastern central Finland stretched from Repola on the Russian Lake Leksha northward to Salla. The Finns claimed the capture of both towns, which are well inside the soviet frontier.

[Berlin sources also reported the capture of Salla. They said German troops broke thru the strong Titowka heights fortifications, "bringing them in possession of a strategically important road to Murmansk."]

Salla, which the Finns ceded to Russia in the 1940 peace treaty, is 80 miles from Kandalaksha, and is on the projected Russian Kandalaksha-Kemijarvi railway dictated into the peace treaty whereby Russia sought to gain a rail outlet to the northern end of the Gulf of Bothnia.

Finnish flyers shot down eight soviet planes over Landenpohja on the northwest shore of Lake Ladoga, making a total of 81 soviet planes destroyed since the war began. The Finns lost four planes today while attacking Russian airdromes, railways and transport lines. Finnish naval units have sunk five soviet ships in the last few days, "among them two large transports and a mine sweeper of about 5,000 tons." Rescuers still were searching for victims of a soviet bombing of Helsingfors. Seventeen persons killed and 156 wounded have been accounted for so far.

Nazis Use Women as Pilots and Chutists, Says Russia

MOSCOW, July 9 (AP).—The official Russian press tonight reported the German air force was employing women as pilots and parachutists, the latter disguised in soviet uniforms. It said four women so disguised were among a group of parachutists destroyed in one sector.

ICELAND COMES INTO ITS OWN AS A MILITARY BASE

Dominates Ship and Air Lanes in North Atlantic.

[This is the second of three articles by Mr. Murchie on Iceland, the North Atlantic island occupied by the British in May, 1940, and now occupied by American forces. Mr. Murchie was the first American reporter to visit the island during the war.]

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, June 11 [By Air Mail].—With the United States entering more actively into the war on the sea, Iceland, midway between the hemispheres, is coming into its own as a naval, air, and army base. A glance at a globe map is evidence enough that Iceland, with Greenland, dominates the North Atlantic ship and air lanes in the same way that Alaska dominates the North Pacific routes.

The Germans also are fully aware of Iceland's importance in the battle of the Atlantic, as is shown by evidence of their plans to send expeditions from Norway to occupy Iceland a year ago. These plans, of course, had to be revised after British forces landed in Reykjavik on May 10, 1940, ahead of them, and seized control of the island.

Unfriendly Toward Troops.

It was only during the first weeks after the British arrival that the attitude of the Icelanders toward the soldiers was unfriendly to a serious extent. At that time there were several cases of fist fights between quick tempered Canadian troops in Reykjavik and certain drink-loving Icelandic youths who had imprudently shouted insults at them, perhaps resenting attentions to girl friends.

At this stage the girls too were extremely cool toward the British. In fact a movement was promoted by the Icelandic press and radio on the ground that friendliness, especially feminine, toward the invaders was unpatriotic. To this day Icelandic girls refuse to walk in the street with British soldiers.

Heap Ridicule on Soldiers.

Ridicule was also heaped on soldiers a year ago because they arrived wearing shoulder emblems depicting an ice cake with a polar bear, an animal which no Icelander has ever seen unless in foreign zoos.

The British incidentally are more than paying their way by bringing relative prosperity to the island while news of Germany's aggressive ruthlessness has helped the British cause.

The recent sinking of unarmed Icelandic fish carriers by U-boats using shells and machine gun fire against the crews manning lifeboats has turned most remaining Nazi sympathizers in Iceland sour.

Three German bomber visits to Iceland—always around 11 o'clock on Sunday mornings, when a few of the soldiers may be expected to be attending one of the still surviving Lutheran church services—have caused Icelanders to practice air raid defense. So far the raiders have done no damage except killing one British Tommy with a machine gun bullet.

A blackout would of course be impossible in Iceland now when midnight is a bright twilight, but the lack of darkness also simplifies the problem of "night" fighters.

There used to be a communist party and a communist newspaper in Reykjavik but communism became extremely unpopular during the first Russo-Finnish war and membership dwindled.

At the end of April this year the communist paper was finally banned by British authorities because of subversive activities in coöperation with Nazi elements. Its editors, including one member of the 1,011 year old Icelandic parliament, were deported to British internment camps, where scores of Nazis from Iceland are already confined.

In May, 1940, when the British arrived, Iceland's imports amounted to $983,000 and exports $1,254,000, yet by February of this year [the latest month for which figures have been compiled] imports had mounted to $1,280,000 and exports to $2,847,000 [reckoned at the rate of 6½ krona to a dollar].

Greenland Has Long Coast.

The eastern coast of Greenland, which is as long as the American coast from northern Maine to the Florida keys and indented with fjords hundreds of miles deep, is flanked by a wide barrier of pack and drift ice until July. The west coast, inhabited by isolated settlements of some 22,000 Eskimos and 300 Danes, involves a voyage of at least 600 miles, leaving out consideration of a return trip.

Danes in Iceland who know their colony of Greenland best seem to think that Germans reported in Greenland might be meteorological parties on the northeast coast some 400 miles north of Iceland. But no wireless messages from the region have been detected in Iceland, so the British consider the theory very doubtful.

Sea communication with that part of Greenland except during two or three months of the year is considered out of the question.

Because of the fact that North Atlantic weather travels eastward, Iceland, with Greenland, is extremely important as a source of weather reports for British planes and ships. Weather reports, to be of value, must be sent by means swifter than the weather itself—and that usually means by radio or cable.

[The third and concluding article of Mr. Murchie's series on Iceland will appear in an early issue of The Tribune.]

RAF BOMBERS RAID NAZI GAS PLANT 550 MILES FROM LONDON

LONDON, July 9 (AP).—British bombers, striking deeper into Germany as north European summer nights lengthen, made a blazing raid on the reich's great substitute gasoline plant at Leuna, near Leipzig, about 550 miles from London, the air ministry reported today.

Bomb symbols mark cities hit in British air raid.

The night raiders also bombed Hamm, Muenster, Bielefeld and Essen. Day raiders strafed points across the channel today, including Bethune, France.

Seven British bombers were reported lost in the night attacks and 8 fighters during daylight channel skirmishes, but the British claimed to have shot down 20 German planes.

[DNB, official German news agency, said 17 British planes were shot down during RAF raids across the channel today.]

Striking back in larger numbers than in recent attacks, German planes bombed the midlands, East Anglia, southwest England and northeast Scotland. The damage, however, was reported to have been slight.

Nazis Claim Big Successes.

BERLIN, July 9 (AP).—The German airforce struck overnight at armaments plants in Birmingham, shipyards and supply industries in the Plymouth area and the ports of Great Yarmouth and Aberdeen, the high command reported today. A 3,000 ton merchantman was reported sunk off the British coast and two other freighters damaged.

WOMAN DROWNS IN GRAVEL PIT.

Bloomington, Ill., July 9 [Special].—Mrs. Jessie Poe, 53, a housekeeper, today was found drowned in a gravel pit. Police records showed she had served jail sentences on drunk and disorderly charges.

PRESIDENT HITS WAR AS DANGER TO 21 REPUBLICS

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—President Roosevelt tonight declared that war and aggression in other continents constitute "active danger" to the liberty and independence of the 21 American republics and threatens "the Christian civilization which they cherish as a precious heritage."

In a message broadcast to Argentina commemorating that nation's declaration of independence in 1816, the President hailed what he termed the American principle of liberty . . . for which their forefathers so valiantly fought."

"During these critical times, when the American republics are confronted with the active danger presented by the challenge abroad to the Christian civilization which they cherish as a precious heritage, it is especially heartening to participate in an eloquent expression of the unity of ideals which firmly binds the chain of free republics of this hemisphere," the message said.

Irishman in Australia Is Held Liable to Draft

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 9.—A police magistrate today ruled that a citizen of Ireland residing in Australia is liable to military training and fined him $5 for refusing to take the oath of service. The defendant declared he would rather go to prison. The prosecutor said "English and Australian law show for purposes of the defense act that Ireland is regarded as a British dominion."

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

It's there with an Extra Wallop in reserve

PAYS YOUR GAS TAX FOR YOU
At present Federal tax rates, the savings on gasoline effected by Compound Carburetion are usually more than enough to pay Federal taxes on the gas you buy.

SOMETIMES in your automobile you want zip and ginger, sometimes thrift.

Just name your choice. In this high-stepping Buick straight-eight with Compound Carburetion† you can have either, each in its proper place.

You can go about your business in easy, ordinary, everyday travel — and this frugal, two-carburetor system will keep you rolling smoothly with only the forward, thrift-size mixer on the job.

Yet any time you want life, lift, super-power it's there with an extra wallop in reserve—just step down on the treadle and you've got it.

That simple move sends the second carburetor into action.

It steps up not only fuel but the air supply as well. It opens up a reservoir of power no single-carburetor engine of like size can have.

Thus you have your fun — and frugality too.

For all the time, whether one carburetor only is working or both of them together, you get a more efficient mixture than a single mixer can supply.

Thus you go farther on each gallon — owners report mileage figures as much as 10% to 15% higher than on previous Buicks of the same size.

Which means, better go look at the engine that's both thrill-packed and thrifty too. You'll find it in a bigger, roomier, smarter-looking automobile that gives you more value per dollar than anything else you can buy.

†Available at slight extra cost on Buick SPECIAL models, standard on all other Series.

$930 for the Business Coupe (illustrated above) including Compound Carburetion, delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices and specifications subject to change without notice.

NEW ARMY DRAFT LOTTERY SET FOR NEXT THURSDAY

Drawing Will Determine Call Order of 750,000.

mitted to volunteer for service. In fact, army officers have been making strenuous efforts to induce draftees to sign up for a regular three year enlistment.

For draftees who volunteer for further service Rayburn recommended that officers' training schools be set up to give them every opportunity for advancement.

Noninterventionists were disconcerted by an announcement by Representative James W. Wadsworth [R., N.Y.] that he favors extension of the one year service period for draftees. He also indorsed the removal of the legal prohibition against the use of draftees or Guardsmen outside the western hemisphere.

Hoffman Leads Attack.

The most bitter criticism of the President came from Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.], who introduced a resolution calling for a national referendum on the question of sending an American expeditionary force to foreign soil.

"Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected by some 27 million Americans who had faith in him," he said. "I challenge him to permit his fellow citizens now to vote in a special election as to whether they still have confidence in him and his plans to involve us in war.

"The President has violated his promises. He has violated his oath of office. He has violated the provisions of the constitution. He has betrayed the people.

"He is, as a dictator, making war; and if he is sincere, if he is patriotic, if he believes in loyalty to the constitution, he will not hesitate for one moment to submit the issue for a decision by the people."

Backed by Woodruff.

"The developments of the last week have shown the people that Mr. Roosevelt's promises to keep America out of war are not to be kept," agreed Representative Roy O. Woodruff [R., Mich.]. "The inside powers that be—British and American—appear to have decided that American boys are to be sent overseas to be mangled, gassed, bombed, and killed in foreign fields and alien trenches."

Woodruff cited the statement of General Sir Claude Auchinleck, new commander-in-chief of the British forces in the middle east, that the need for American man power in this war certainly will arise in 12, 14, or 24 months."

The debate on the bill itself centered on the plant seizure provisions, widespread approval having been expressed of the section deferring the induction of men who were 28 years old on July 1.

Outdoes Senate Version.

The house version of the plant seizure section is much more stringent than that passed by the senate a month ago. It defines as "sabotage" any interference with the production of war weapons and imposes a maximum prison sentence of five years, a fine of $5,000, or both.

The President would be empowered under the house bill to seize any arms plant where a strike has been called and to use the army to protect persons who wish to work. Interference with persons going to or from work comes under the sabotage provision.

President Roosevelt has been represented as now being against legislation which has aroused opposition from organized labor. Representative Forest A. Harness [R., Ind.] reminded the house that the bill was asked for in the name of the President by Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson a few weeks ago.

"The President is playing politics with this issue now because of the opposition of labor," Harness accused.

A vote on passage of the bill is expected tomorrow or Friday.

U. S. MARSHALS SEEK NICK CIRCELLA FOR BIOFF-BROWNE TRIAL

Nick Circella.

United States deputy marshals yesterday sought Nick [Nickelodean] Circella, ex-convict, ex-Capone mobster, and the present personal representative of George E. Browne, president of the International Association of Theatrical Stage Employes [AFL].

A warrant for Circella's arrest was obtained by J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, from Judge Michael L. Igoe. The union chief's agent is wanted in New York City to testify as a material witness in the trial of Browne and Willie Bioff, Hollywood boss of the stangehands' union. They are accused of violating the federal anti-racketeering law by extorting $550,000 from four motion picture companies thru threats of strikes.

William H. McDonnel, United States marshal, said he had been searching for Circella for at least two weeks. Circella lives at 408 South Austin boulevard.

Court Frees 30 Arrested in Raids on 5 Handbooks

Judge Gibson E. Gorman in South State street court yesterday sustained motions to suppress evidence because of illegal entry by police and discharged 30 men arrested in raids on 5 alleged handbooks Tuesday. The raids were at 9137 Houston avenue, 117 North Wells street, 208 North Wells street, 1205 South Michigan avenue, and 185½ North Clark street.

KNIFEY SAWICKI PLEADS GUILTY OF 2 MURDERS

Bernard [Knifey] Sawicki, 19 year old St. Charles parolee, pleaded guilty of the murder of two of his four victims yesterday when arraigned before Chief Justice James F. Fardy in Criminal court.

"Do you have a lawyer?" Judge Fardy asked.

"Nah," Sawicki replied, chewing his gum.

"Do you intend to get one?"

"Nah," he said disinterestedly.

Arraigned for the murders of Charles Kwasinski, 17, 1736 Monroe street, a St. Charles pal, and John Miller, 19, 5542 West 63d street, killed in a park holdup, Sawicki pleaded guilty.

The case was assigned for trial on July 21 to Judge Grover C. Niemeyer, and Dr. William Haines, acting director of the county behavior clinic, was directed to examine Sawicki and present his report at that time.

Save Our Republic

CANNON FODDER.

Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, the new commander in chief of the British army in the middle east, says that American man power will be needed if the war is to be won "properly."

"I've always thought the war must be won in Europe," he told correspondents in Cairo, "in Germany, on Germany's own soil. Therefore I see as much need for American man power in this war as in the last." Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, whom Gen. Sir Claude succeeded, was of the same opinion. Neither has fought on Germany's own soil. No British land force has been close to it and none has been on it as the war rounds out its second year. American man power is to break into it and storm Berlin.

The British generals talk of American man power and mean cannon fodder. Man power is a gentler word. The British are waiting until the youth of this country, millions of young men, have been conscripted into military service, and trained or untrained, can be carried across seas to be thrown in masses against the German war machine to be blown to bits, to fight their way into Berlin and revenge the defeats in Norway, Flanders, Greece, Crete, and Libya.

The British people have been taught to expect this. The British generals demand it. They are presenting an overdue note signed by the cannon fodder traffickers of this country. It is natural for British generals who have fought their wars with other peoples' soldiers to have these ideas and make such requisitions. It is not so natural that American society women who collect bundles for Britain should have the same feeling regarding the youth of their country. It is not so natural for war committees, the Aid the Allies, the Fight for Freedom, the Friends of China, and the Union Now, to echo the demands of the British generals.

But all these people are willing, even anxious, to immolate the young men of America on the battlefields of the whole world and to do it now.

NOT SO GOOD FOR JAPAN.

The Chinese incident has entered upon its fifth year—an old fashioned war in new times. A people so sensitive as the Japanese to the loss of face must be aware that they have lost it. They have more than face to consider. They have not been so vulnerable since they built a first class navy. When warships ruled the seas the naval strength of the Japanese and their position gave them a certain degree of immunity and some striking power. The airplane has changed their prospects.

Air bases along the flank of any Japanese movement south give the islanders pause for thought. Bombs and aerial torpedoes have done in many warships. The Asiatic question is changing its complexion.

The Japanese have not been able to conquer China and a new threat is developing against them. The changing situation may soon be reflected in Japan's policies.

SEVEN MEN ON AN IRON HORSE.

Among the demands that the railroad operating brotherhoods have presented to the western railroads in their current wage negotiations is one that an assistant engineer and a fireman shall be on duty in every unit of a diesel locomotive. On the big diesels that pull the transcontinental streamliners, with three power units, this would mean an engine crew of seven men—engineer, three assistant engineers, and three firemen.

The present crew consists of an engineer and a fireman. The engineer is fully capable of handling, and does handle, all the operating mechanism. The only excuse for the fireman's presence is as a safety precaution. Considering the speed at which these trains operate, it is a wise precaution.

But what five more men would do on a diesel locomotive, except play cards and draw their pay, is hard to see. The seven man proposal, it is obvious, is just one more of those make work provisions that are known on the railroads as featherbed rules. The operation of those rules already adds enormously to the costs of operating the railroads, costs which in the end are paid by passengers and shippers.

The monthly pay of railroad operating crews is not high, considering the responsibility and requirements of their jobs. For those with steady employment, the bracket from $200 to $350 would probably cover the great majority of their monthly paychecks.

But under the dual system of figuring pay, in which a day's wages is paid for either a certain mileage or a certain number of hours, whichever basis is most favorable to the employé, an operating employé frequently works less than eight hours to earn his day's pay. Or he may work considerably less than five days a week. Some men, on favorable runs, can earn a month's pay—all they are allowed to earn under union rules—in as little as ten working days a month.

The purpose of the featherbed rules that establish this system is, from the union standpoint, to furnish work at a living monthly wage for as many union members as possible. Both the operating agreements with the unions and federal legislation governing such matters as railroad consolidation are based on this principle of "job protection."

Under this principle it is intended not only that there shall be no diminution of jobs for the present personnel of the railroads, but also that the number of jobs available for new applicants at any time in the future shall not be reduced. A case of sorts may be made for the tenure of existing employés, altho on the railroads the practices designed to protect that tenure have been pushed to fantastic lengths. But to impose on the railroads permanently a far larger working force than is needed for their efficient operation is the worst sort of economic folly.

No one benefits by it, least of all the employés themselves. If the railroads were permitted to reduce their operating forces thru the painless method of not filling vacancies, and at the same time the featherbed rules were gradually relaxed until every employé put in a full month's work for his pay, it would be possible to increase materially the pay of the employés who remained. The only people who would lose by such a policy would be the union executives. In time they might have many less dues paying members in their organizations.

THE WHEAT PROTEST.

Farmers in many of the wheat growing sections of the middle west and southwest are organizing to protest against the 49 cent penalty imposed on the sale of each bushel of wheat grown in excess of the alloted quotas. Some of the farmers say the wheat quota system was approved in a referendum only because they were led to believe that the penalty would be no more than 15 cents. After they had made their plans on that assumption, they say, and when the wheat was already ripening in their fields, the higher penalty was imposed. Suits have been started to test the validity of the penalty and congressmen are being urged to do something for their farmer constituents. One point which is being stressed is that the penalty is imposed upon all wheat growers whether they voted in the referendum or not, and regardless of the way they voted.

It will be instructive to see what the courts have to say about the protest. Many of the professional spokesmen for farmers and all the New Dealers from the President down were indignant when the original AAA scheme was invalidated by the Supreme court in January, 1936. In time a new and similar scheme was evolved which the courts approved. In effect, the right of the government to tell the farmers what they may grow and the terms on which they may sell their crops has been sustained to a very considerable extent. In return, the farmers have been receiving a steady rain of benefit checks of many kinds, but the protest of the wheat farmers suggests that the wheat growers, at least, are dissatisfied. They have been hearing of large increases in industrial wages as a result of the armament boom, the cost of living is rising, and the farmers believe they are entitled to a larger share of the new prosperity.

To the New Dealers, this attitude may appear to be an ungrateful one, but to students of human nature it occasions no surprise. Once the government undertakes to fix prices it is altogether certain that it will be under constant pressure to raise them. The agricultural officials in Washington are saying, rather plaintively, that the wheat farmers ought to realize that they are better off than they were a year ago but the argument falls on deaf ears.

There is one group of farmers who can hold their heads high these days: the farmers of the corn belt who voted against the New Deal last November by large majorities. They saw the huge accumulation of surpluses brought about by the government's price fixing and foresaw the day when the government would begin to crack down. So far as the wheat farmers are concerned that day seems to have arrived.

ARMIES BY THE SEA.

[New York Times.]

The idea would be a lost-children index for estimating the size of Coney Island crowds. The visitors at Coney Island last Sunday were a million. The number of small boys and girls who lost contact with parents to whom they were ultimately restored was 52. But we recall Coney Island Sundays on which the number of temporary waifs was considerably less or considerably more than 52, but the published estimate of the size of the crowd was the conventional million.

The police say they have exact methods for appraising city crowds. Sundays at Coney Island they get the returns from the subway turnstiles and add the number of parked automobiles multiplied by three. But one cannot help being struck by the regular way in which Coney Island draws its half million people on a cool bright Sunday and its million on really hot days.

But in an age that has gone literally crazy on indexes—steel production indexes, wholesale sales indexes, health and marriage and milk drinking indexes—it is strange that nobody has thought of calculating the size of Coney Island and Rockaway crowds scientifically from the number of tearful small boys and girls who temporarily stray from their guardians. They fall into the hands of the police who stay them with ice cream cones and comfort them with hot dogs, as the Song of Songs says almost, and are restored joyful to their rejoicing parents.

Now any good actuary will tell you that when you deal with huge multitudes like a million people, the ratio of lost children is pretty sure to be a constant one.

FIXING A LEATHER PRICE.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

The office of price administration will one of these days discover that the task of keeping prices down is not so simple. It will discover that something must be known about an industry before prices within that industry can be controled.

The other day the price administrator fixed a top price for leather. There was one immediate result—the price of inferior grades of leather rose to the top and better grades began retiring from the market. Since this is certainly not what was intended, it may be supposed that Price Administrator Leon Henderson has at least learned something about how not to operate in the future. We hope he has learned that where there are grades and a threatened shortage fixing an ungraded top price will not produce desired results.

Such price fixing merely drives the top grades to cover, while inferior grades take the top price. The little prime leather that changes owners does so on some other consideration than price—and not always a consideration conducive to national defense.

Surely one could not fix one maximum price for automobiles, whether they were Chevrolets or Cadillacs, and expect Cadillacs to be delivered in a market clamoring for cars. It is just as foolish to suppose that one price can be fixed for leather, regardless of quality, when the demand exceeds the immediate supply.

For the last eight years this country has been running a business kindergarten for New Dealers.

SALUTES TO THE UNKNOWN.

To the filling station man in the Mojave desert who, at midnight, correctly diagnosed the car's apparent death rattle as a lack of lubricant in the speedometer gadget and advised us to drive on without worrying.

To the curio store keeper on the highway near the Meteor crater in Arizona, who saw the Evanston, Ill., license plate and became reminiscent about Frances Willard, the Davis street fountain, Dyche stadium, and the ravines of Winnetka.

To the waitresses and bellhops at Bryce canyon lodge [students of Brigham Young university], who put on a show that reconciled us to amateur theatricals.

To the two genial women in a California car who gave aid and comfort on the occasion of a flat tire near the tunnel in Zion canyon.

To the desk sergeant in Monterey, Cal., who, when asked where to find the municipal rose garden, said he had been on that job for seven years and would have to take a day off soon to discover the places of public interest. [He is advised that the municipal rose garden is three blocks from his police station and isn't worth looking at.]

To the San Francisco girl who found us about to toboggan backward on Russian Hill, coasted with us, giving technical advice, saw us safely down, and then led us by a roundabout way on our course, with a merry shout of good-by at the corner of Van Ness avenue and Lombard street. We regard her as one of the brighter angels.

To the young man in a Wisconsin car who, finding us halted on a grim stretch of the Big Oaks Flat road into Yosemite, worrying over an apparently boiled-out engine, donated the last gallon from his water jug.

To numerous others in small towns and large cities, on prairies, deserts and mountainsides, who gave friendly counsel with unfailing courtesy.

WAR AMONG THE DISHPANS.

(News item: They threaten to draft aluminumware.)

My saucepan longs to fight the foe;
Next week the frying pan may go
To some far distant camp and train;
He hopes to be a bombing plane.
My coffeepot that softly smiled
Has lost his air benign and mild,
To wear a military frown;
He wants to go and gain renown.

The colander that drains my beets
Would rain destruction on the streets
Of Wilhelmshaven and Calais,
Or convoy ships from Hudson Bay.
That gleaming plane high overhead
Last week was baking gingerbread.
The bombs that shatter in Chantilly
Still smell of pork and piccalilli.

My double boiler, tried and true,
What noble dreams I've dreamed for you!
I didn't raise my pots to fly
On homicidal missions high.
By all the gods of heaven's dome,
My coffeepot shall stay at home!
If folks want dishpans, let 'em buy 'em;
When my old kettles fly, I'll fly 'em!

All Cars Look Alike in the Dark.

Chicago has found a new outdoor sport, more fun than snipe hunting! After fireworks or other doings at Soldiers' field the game is to stalk thru the thousands of parked cars and try to find the one you came in. They all look alike in the dark, except the few who cheat by tying kerchiefs on whip-aerials. It's more sport than big game hunting, particularly when a group separates and its members have to call or whistle to re-assemble themselves.

My secret is to sit on the curb till every one goes home; the last car is mine. Quizzicuss.

A Quotation from Horace.

Horace Greeley didn't say "Go west, young man" [July 8]. This phrase was originated by John Babsone Lane Soule in an article he wrote for the Terre Haute, Ind., Express in 1851. Greeley was attracted by the expression and made use of it in an editorial he wrote for the New York Tribune.

After the phrase had thus become popular and attributed to him, Greeley sought to rectify the misconception by printing Soule's article.

But—here it is, 90 years after!

RED RUN THE RIVERS.

Where the Seine flows in sorrow
And the Thames in salty tears,
Man has mortgaged his tomorrow
For a hundred weary years.

Far down the Nile and Niger,
Where cities built on sand,
Stronger than the jungle tiger
War lifts its crimson hand.

Over the Volga the vultures,
As the proud pageants go,
Await the death of cultures
On the Rhine, and Rhone, and Po.

Eastward where the Bible rivers
Cooled a garden God forgot,
Now the ancient Tigris quivers
Underneath the shell and shot.

Even Jordan, where the Master
Laved his body clean of dust,
Now rolls this dark disaster
And its waters turn to rust.

In all our Hudson's flowing,
And our Mississippi's flood,
There is only water going—
Thank God no blood!

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE SUFFERERS.

THERE is probably no subject in the field of medicine which has proved more baffling than the appearance of an abnormally high pressure within the arteries. It should be reduced somewhat, otherwise it may prove to be quite too strong for the blood carrying pipes. They cannot and will not last as long as they should, unless something can be done to revise and reorganize the patient's plan of life.

One thing we must not forget, however, is that we are not all alike. Most of us vary each day in our levels from 20 to 30 points. The one who is exercising strenuously, who is keyed up, will find that the tension of his circulation is far higher than normal. The saving grace of the whole matter is that it drops back to where it should be as soon as the strain is over.

But our conduits are like rubber bands; if we overstretch them too frequently, or for too long a time, they will lose their elasticity and a period of hardening will begin which renders them more liable to rupture.

Physicians are watching with interest the development of a kidney extract which is under preparation in the laboratory of Dr. Irvine Page of Indianapolis. Thus far his results with human beings have been most significant and it is hoped that the remedy will supply the answer to the problem.

In the meantime, there are a number of suggestions that may be followed with benefit by those whose readings appear to be unsafe.

1. Make certain that elimination via the bowel, skin, kidneys, and lungs is normal. This demands two or three glasses of warm water one-half hour before breakfast and plenty of liquids during the balance of the day. If, despite generous doses of "Adam's ale," constipation still exists, compound licorice powder or some other mild laxative may be employed. The kidneys must be kept active, as toxins will be washed away in this fashion. Only those with a marked degree of hardening will find fluid piling up in the tissues. If such is the case, water drinking may need to be curtailed.

2. Avoid cold baths. A heart collapse can follow chilling of the skin. Take warm tubs and soak for 10 minutes, but make certain that the air of the bathroom is not overheated. Otherwise giddiness may ensue.

3. Refrain from sudden, jerky, or intense movements. Walking is ideal exercise but climbing stairs or steep grades should be shunned or attempted leisurely. Never run for a train or anything else. If golf is the game of choice, join a foursome who will play at about your pace. If a headache develops during or after exercise—quit.

4. The diet should be spare and should contain milk, fresh vegetables, and fruits, with meat once a day. Appetite must be satisfied, however, and an ideal poundage is slightly below the average set forth in the tables of height and age. Four or five small snacks are better than three regular meals. Take nothing at bedtime unless a glass of hot milk proves useful as a remedy for sleeplessness.

5. Make an effort to cultivate equanimity — even in these strenuous times. Outbursts of anger are the equivalent of a dose of poison. During rest periods, recline on a couch with the head and shoulders raised, rather than sit jack-knifed in a so-called easy chair. Keep a book on the bedside table for thought diversion, should one waken at night.

6. Select a physician who will not take your pressure every week. Once a month is sufficient. Perhaps once in two or three months.

We must attempt to get the upper hand of the condition with better hygiene—not the least of which is the conquest of the sympathetic nervous system—bubbling emotions.

CHIGGERS' DELIGHT.

REPLY.

As a rule, these pests are not finicky. They will attack insects as well as human beings. Those who are thin-skinned are more susceptible, however. Covering the feet and the legs with powdered sulfur or applying a light costing of sulfur ointment will be helpful. These mites do not like this chemical.

WHEAT FARMER NOT FREE.

Chicago, July 8.—In Kansas recently I was astonished to learn that wheat farmers in America are no longer free men. I had no idea that matters had reached the stage where any man who followed his own ideas concerning what to plant was arbitrarily penalized 49 cents for every bushel of wheat he raised above what the government thought he ought to raise. If I understand the matter correctly, the penalty is to be applied even tho the wheat is not sold, but kept on the farm for feeding purposes.

I'm surprised that THE TRIBUNE hasn't turned its editorial guns on this un-American practice. VICTOR ELVING.

MOSCOW PROPAGANDA HERE.

Chicago, July 8.—Just take a look at these "juicy gems" taken from literature distributed from door to door in our neighborhood by the communist party under the caption, "The People's Program of Struggle for the Defeat of Hitler and Hitlerism":

"The American people hate and abhor Fascism. They have seen for themselves that Fascism means unrestrained oppression of the masses at home and aggressive war for conquet abroad."

In order to fully appreciate this little number, one will have to reflect a moment on the unrestrained liberty—political, social, and religious—enjoyed by the Russian people these many years past.

"The soviet union tried in vain to prevent this second imperialist war. . . . It adopted a policy of consistent neutrality towards both sides in this war and exerted all its efforts to prevent the spread of the war."

In thinking this one over, I would suggest that one go thru some back issues of any newspaper since the war started and observe the coöperation of Russia in furnishing Germany with materials essential to her war effort until Germany's recent doublecross. OBSERVER.

"It [the struggle to defeat German Fascism] requires a complete reversal of the present policy of systematic curtailment of the people's rights and liberties, and the adoption of a policy of steadfastly preserving and extending the democratic rights of the people. An end must be put to such instruments of Fascism as the Dies committee, the school witch hunts, the Voorhis act, the proposed Vinson anti-strike bill, the use of troops for strikebreaking purposes. . . ."

Well, look who's talking!

JAMES L. WAGNER.

ON BISHOP HURLEY'S PLEA.

Chicago, July 7.—Bishop Hurley's passionate plea stopped just short of "the divine right of Presidents" idea. The idea is old. The right is one which the people cannot confer, of course; it comes from heaven and from the authority of such bishops as think like Hurley. Previous pronouncements of his along the same line leave no doubt of that. Perhaps it is significant that he has a Florida diocese. But in expounding the doctrine that it is not for us to question why but to obediently do and die, he is assuming a rôle which the gentle St. Augustine would hardly approve, regardless of how well he thought himself cast for it.

The bishop's inference that England went to the aid of a Catholic Poland is too clumsy for comment. And, unfortunately, his address savored too much of the Ickes style to classify it as anything but a tirade.

An earlier era had its Bishop Cannons but they, too, like the flagpole sitters, passed away. They were harmless, however; they amused rather than endangered. J. M.

THOSE GIRLS IN SHORTS.

Chicago, July 8.—Why should those soldiers at Memphis be punished?

If girls go around indecently clad they are inviting insult and have no one to blame but themselves. Why not take a popular vote in regard to the matter?

J. C. W.

Chicago, July 8.—I read about how Gen Ben Lear disciplined a number of troops for shouting at him [and several girls in shorts] during a golf game and reached this logical conclusion: The troops at least on a Monday were on duty; Gen. Lear, commanding, seemed to have plenty of time to play golf on Monday. Perhaps he agrees with Britain that "battles are won on the playing fields of Eton." DICK SMITH.

THE JEERING HABIT.

Chicago, July 8.—Gen. Ben Lear seeks to teach discipline and manners to a group in our new army because they jeered and audibly leered at some girls clad in shorts. He won't succeed. He apparently is unaware that our present youthful generation, with notable exceptions, was taught neither manners nor discipline, either at home or in school. Selfish individualism and a ruthless disrespect for the rights of others seem to be the modern educational trend. OBSERVER.

EDITORIAL "DEVOID OF SENSE."

Wadsworth, Ill., July 7.—Your editorial, "This Oasis," is devoid of all sense. It deals with ancient history, utterly inapplicable to the present issues. History is being made today by a conqueror—a composite of the tyrants and dictators of all time. In advocating an impregnable defense, you recognize our danger. You would have us live in an armed camp for generations. To maintain an adequate defense against a Nazified world, totalitarianism would be our lot. Democracy would go out like a light. Wake up, Rip Van Winkle.

NORMAN B. WARREN.

OPPOSES WAR REFERENDUM.

Chicago, July 8.—In the interest of national unity and of the perpetuation of our republic, it is to be hoped that the suggestion for a referendum on the question of "going to war" will not prevail.

The reason for this is obvious. If a question is to be publicly voted upon and decided it must necessarily be publicly discussed, and in a land of free speech practically no statement and no publicity would be barred in the course of such a campaign. This opens a wide gate to foreign propaganda and publicity for subversive doctrines. Nothing could be better calculated to confuse and disunite a great people living in a vast area than such a procedure. Nothing could more certainly prevent a settled foreign policy or weaken the force of our state representations to foreign governments.

DOUGLAS SUTHERLAND.

WE ARE SLAVES TO TAXES.

Chicago, July 7.—We are already 50 or 60 billion dollars in debt and this looks like just the beginning. At this rate it won't matter who wins the war, for if we are not the slaves of London, Rome, Berlin, or Moscow, we will be slaves to the tax burden now being piled on us. Just what the war is about, I don't know. If it is to allow England to hog the trade lanes of the world as she has always done in the past, let's let her have them. There is nothing we can do about it anyway. Whoever wins, we are licked.

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. said yesterday we were born in the "palace" of liberty. Bunk and more bunk. J. W. D.

WIND AT EVENING COOLS 202D, BUT IT'S MISCHIEVOUS

Chicago Unit Is Becoming Acclimated.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Bliss, Tex., July 7.—We were seated at mess with the 202d coast artillery [anti-aircraft], Chicago's own National Guard regiment, watching the evening sun settle toward the mauve tinted Franklin mountains to the west.

It was just past 5 o'clock. Without warning the mountains became obscured in a haze of dust, stirred up on their rugged sand and rock slopes, among the mesquite and greasewood bushes.

"Here she comes, regular as clockwork," commented the regimental commander, Col. Charles C. Dawes, of Evanston, a nephew of Gen. Charles Gates Dawes. It was the nightly wind, roaring down the mountain side, and thru El Paso del Norte, the pass between Mexico and the United States from which the town of El Paso draws its name.

Leaves Air Cool.

Col. Dawes rushed out to see that his tent was secure. But it wasn't much of a wind, the officers assured me. It just strained the guy ropes, whipped up what dust was left on the rocky camp site, and blew away in half an hour, leaving the air cool, after a blazing hot day under the broiling Texas sun.

The writer should have been here, they said, during the winter and spring at the time of the big winds. It was just around Christmas when the wind removed the huge circus tent which covered the camp theater. The theater is now "open air."

One blow crumpled 40 tents, twisting the wooden supports into splinters. Now they have been reënforced. But in another big blow an officer was nearly trapped when his tent overturned. One huge canvas shelter, similar to a mess tent, was blown down four times.

Tents Anchored with Rocks.

Every tent is now anchored with a base of piled up rocks, the almost indestructible caliche, a cement-like alkali deposit which underlies the blow sand on the low mountain slope where the 39th brigade's anti-aircraft training center is established.

Caliche is good for road building, for fences, for house building, and for drainage. But the regiment's 1,700 men hate the name. It has meant long hours of toil trying to clear the drill grounds and tent areas.

A pick and shovel are virtually useless on the hard ground. Over the bustle of the cantonment hovers the shrill clatter of the heavy air compressor, drilling post holes. This is the only instrument which makes much impression on caliche.

When the regiment first reached Fort Bliss it was shown a section of the nearby cactus covered desert, fitted out with open air latrines and showers, and told "this is your camp."

For the first three months, until the men moved to their present area on higher ground, they had extremely tough going. They cleared the site, built their own shelter frames, and tried to endure.

Hard Time Getting Acclimated.

It was hotter than blazes. The altitude, 4,000 feet, was new to Chicago bred boys. Then there was the change of diet and food. For some time almost every one had sore throats, diarrhea, and other ailments. Men were fainting on the drill ground and at work on the 3-inch guns.

By now the men seem to have become acclimated to the altitude and the sun which produces a dry heat, unlike the humidity of Chicago. Altho fiercely hot during the day, almost every night is cool with a breeze, a welcome relief to the tanned soldiers.

The regiment's health is in good shape, according to hospital records. Its hospitalization rate is less than the entire Fort Bliss rate of 2.5 per 1,000 men. There have been two deaths, one natural and one in traffic.

"It doesn't make any difference," said one private. "We'd all rather be home, humidity and all. Our year's up in September. That's all we can think about now."

Knife which two men used to stab him, according to Jagiello.

Theodore Jagiello, 23 years old, 1317 Haddon avenue, former inmate of St. Charles School for Boys, was arrested by police early yesterday in a service station in Woodstock, McHenry county, and admitted that he shot and killed two men Sunday morning.

The victims were Frank Poblocki, 22 years old, of 1012 North Ashland avenue, and Joseph T. Gogowski, 21, of 1308 North Hoyne avenue. They were found shot to death at Thomas and Throop streets. Jagiello said he shot in self-defense after the two had boarded the running board of his car and one of them stabbed him.

Georgia Free, 15 years old, 1758 Wabansia avenue, who was with Jagiello at the time of the shooting, named him as the killer.

DENOUNCE LEAR IN HOUSE FOR PENALTY MARCH

Charge General Assuaged Personal Resentment.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Punishment imposed by Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the second army, on 350 soldiers of the 110th Quartermaster regiment, 35th division, for exuberant yelling and whistling at bare legged girls on a golf course was criticized in the house today.

Paul J. Kilday.

"Imagine," said Congressman Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.] "a contingent of 350 healthy, vigorous, young American boys in the United States army, passing by a golf course where some girls are playing in shorts, a contingent so devoid of the buoyancy and effervescence that some one would not say, 'Hi, girls,' or something.

'In Poor Form.'

"I do not know whether public funds are to be expended so that grouchy, golfing old generals will develop a lot of sourpuss soldiers, but for my part I will take the other kind of soldier."

Democrats and Republicans applauded the verbal spanking of Gen. Lear.

And Representative Paul J. Kilday [D., Tex.], member of a special subcommittee investigating personnel matters in the defense program, telegraphed Lear that he contemplates a resolution to investigate his severe punishment of the forces, who were ordered to repeat, partly on foot, their 150 mile trip from Memphis to Camp Robinson, Ark.

"Hey, Buddy, Want a Caddy?"

Kilday said newspaper accounts give the impression that action taken by Lear in the name of discipline was actually to assuage personal resentment because of remarks directed at him when not in uniform and his identity known.

A soldier was reported to have shouted at the general, "Hey, Buddy, don't you want a caddy?"

"This physical punishment gives strong evidence of your personal displeasure and desire for revenge rather than disciplinary action," Kilday told Lear.

REFORMATORY RECORD CLERK TAKES CARE OF ONE RECORD (HIS OWN)

Gary police were surprised recently to learn that Vito Nicaso, 24 years old, was no longer serving a burglary term in the Pendleton, Ind., reformatory. They had asked Pendleton to notify them of Nicaso's release, because he was wanted for five Gary robberies. Questioned, Pendleton authorities said Nicaso was paroled March 6. They said they found no robbery warrant from the Gary department.

Yesterday Sergt. Timothy O'Connell and a detective bureau squad arrested Nicaso on the northwest side. He agreed to return to Gary and said he would plead guilty to the robbery charges. Sergt. O'Connell asked about the missing warrant. Nicaso laughed.

"A lot of goofs go down there [to Pendleton]," he said. "And a guy with a high school education, like me, gets a good job in the joint. They made me record clerk. I took the warrant out of the files."

HODES SUSPENDS INVESTIGATOR IN AD SALE PROBE

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes announced yesterday that he had suspended one of his staff investigators, Steve Warnick, pending a review of charges that Warnick used his official position to promote sales of advertising in his newspaper, the Jugo-Slavenski Glasnik.

Warnick has denied the charges. He said he had employed a solicitor to handle advertising for a special Fourth of July edition and had paid him 50 per cent of the proceeds.

In the court of Judge Oscar Caplan, Warnick is scheduled to be tried today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He is alleged to have beaten three men with a blackjack in a street quarrel April 11. Frank Freid, receiver of the Croatian hall at 1800 South Racine avenue, is one of the complainants.

YOUNG SWINDLER SOUGHT; ACCUSED OF ABUSING GIRL

A girl, 13 years old, complained to Englewood police last night that a young man about 17 years old, who accosted her as she watched a sandlot ball game in front of 5831 South Ada street, had taken indecent liberties with her. She told Detectives James Pigott and Joseph O'Brien that the man accused her of robbing his brother and induced her to accompany him to be identified. Instead he took her to a Pennsylvania railroad elevation at May street and 58th place.

Detectives said he answered the description of a young man south side police have been seeking for three months in connection with operation of a juvenile confidence game. The man accuses another of robbing his "brother" and takes money from his victim as a guarantee the victim will remain while he seeks his brother to identify the supposed robber. He never returns with the money. Sometimes the man leaves a stolen bicycle to prove that he will return.

E. A. ZIMMERMAN NAMED DIRECTOR OF CRIME BOARD

Attorney Edward A. Zimmerman has been appointed temporary operating director of the Chicago Crime commission to succeed Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, who died Monday. The choice and the acceptance of Zimmerman were announced yesterday by Bertram J. Cahn, president of the commission.

E. A. Zimmerman.

"Mr. Zimmerman is exceptionally qualified to manage the affairs of the commission," Cahn said. "He has been a member for 20 years and has been a vice president for much of that time.

"He intends to devote as much of his time as possible to the position, but does not want it permanently. He is accepting out of public spirit to give us time to seek a suitable permanent successor to Col. Chamberlin."

Zimmerman is 56 years old. He was born near Richmond, Ind., and attended the public schools there. Later he attended Earlham college and the John Marshall law school, from which he obtained a degree in 1909. He has since been in practice here.

Benson, Second Son of Edsel Ford, Weds Grosse Pointe Girl

Detroit, Mich., July 9 (AP).—Benson Ford, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Bryant Ford and a grandson of the fabulous Ford fortune, was married in suburban Grosse Pointe today to diminutive brunet Edith McNaughton, 21 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McNaughton.

The bride, who carried a bouquet of orchids, some of which were flown here from Canada, California, and Massachusettes, was attended by six bridesmaids, including Mrs. Henry Ford II., and Miss Josephine Ford, the bridegroom's only sister. Young Henry Ford, an ensign in the navy, was his brother's best man.

Benson Ford, who was 21 years old last September, was rejected for military service last month because of an eye defect.

A wealth of wedding gifts was shown the guests at a reception at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Presented to the young couple by Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford was a large brick Georgian style home, said to have been purchased recently for $60,000.

Being Noisy Is Natural to Childhood

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

A house can't possibly be a quiet place when there are children. We wouldn't want or expect it to be. We only think we would.

Ellen, the mother of three husky boys, laughingly told me about the visit her unmarried aunt paid her family a few weeks ago.

"Aunt Ann," she related, "is always such a good sport and we are all very fond of her.

"When she'd been with us for almost a week she surprised me one day by saying: 'It's wonderful how steady your nerves are, Ellen. I seem to be startled or jumpy every time one of the boys bounds in the door, or takes the stairs two at a time. I think each time the house will surely be wrecked, or an arm or leg be broken. But you seem to go along as tho nothing unusual were happening. I'd get used to it after a while, I suppose, but I'm sure I'd never achieve your unruffled calm. How do you manage it?'"

My friend laughed.

"And I'd been congratulating the boys in my heart because they'd really been unusually quiet!" she said.

Don't bottle up the natural exuberance of childhood. If you do, it's liable to break out when and where you least expect it, and sometimes with disastrous results.

Of course, I don't mean for one moment that you should sit supinely by while the house is wrecked. Children can be taught a reasonable degree of considerateness. But what I am saying is that almost ceaseless activity is part and parcel of being a child, and that we, as parents, must strive to channel this bubbling energy so that our children have ample opportunity to let off excess steam.

Pond Cottage to Be Opened Friday at Chicago Farm Camp

Pond cottage, a new building on the Chicago Commons Farm camp at New Buffalo, Mich., will be opened officially at 4 p. m. Friday. The campers and staff will be in charge of the program. A bequest from Irving K. Pond, architect, who, with his brother, Allen B. Pond, planned the settlement house at 955 Grand avenue, made the cottage possible.

It will serve as a dispensary for the 96 campers and 20 staff members. There are four patient beds in addition to rooms for a nurse and a counselor. A living room has been attractively furnished with an eye to quieting frayed city nerves and easing cramped muscles. There is also a kitchenette and a bath and shower with hot water, an especial luxury for the needy children and mothers who attend the camp.

The camp site, consisting of 223 acres, was contributed in 1923 by the E. K. Warren estate, thru the heirs, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Chamberlain of Three Oaks and Lakeside, Mich. The caretaker's family lives in the farm house, which is more than 100 years old, and others have donated funds for the dining hall and kitchen, five cabins and recreation hall for the boys' camp, the double dormitory cottages for girls and the forest of 35,000 Norway and white pine trees that fill a vacant field. The camp opened its 1941 season June 30 and new groups of campers will go out every two weeks.

A hand without any card as high as a jack is scarcely a pretty sight [indeed, some players naïvely think they are legally entitled to a new deal!] but even such a holding can sometimes be put to heroic service if the defenders coöperate closely. In that case there is an extra glow of satisfaction for having done a good job with bad tools. Note today's hand.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 diamond	Double	Pass	3 spades
Pass	3 clubs	Pass	3 spades
Pass	4 spades	Pass	Pass
Pass

North did not like to raise his partner's suit with only a doubleton, hence adopted the expedient of bidding three of a minor. As North properly reckoned, South might have made his jump response with a good hand containing only five spades. Before North could support with safety he had to hear a rebid of the suit.

West opened the diamond king and, when East signaled with the nine, led the diamond queen to the second round. Then, on the correct analysis that the greatest chance of defeating the contract lay in taking two trump tricks, West carefully led a low diamond to the third trick. The message conveyed by this play was unmistakable, namely, that West wanted East to ruff with the highest trump possible. Obviously, since West had held the first two tricks with the king and queen, if he had been able to take another diamond trick he would have led the ace with which he was marked. Had he wanted merely to force the declarer, he would have followed the same course. Thus, his play of the low diamond was easy to read. East duly ruffed with the spade 10 and, altho declarer overruffed, West's A-9-7 of trumps were impregnable for two tricks, which meant the defeat of the contract.

Certainly, the defensive coup used in this hand is simplicity itself. Yet, I have seen countless players in a position similar to West's continue with their high honors instead of assuring themselves of coöperation by sending partner a clear message.

Lose Ugly Fat!

Says Lovely IRENE RICH

No Strict Diet Lists; No Strenuous Exercises; No Distasteful Drugs

IN EVERY section of the country today, women have marveled at the wonders of a safe, easy reducing method—which requires no strict diet lists; no strenuous exercises; no drugs. Increases energy as weight goes down. It's the identical method Dr. Damrau of New York used in tests among a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed directions implicitly, and was responsible for an average loss in weight of 7 pounds per month.

Unbelievably Easy to Follow

All you do is mix ¾ glass of Welch's Grape Juice with ¼ glass of water and drink before meals and at bedtime. Then eat sensibly—which means you avoid overeating; thus reducing caloric intake considerably. Then this happens: First, this delicious drink satisfies your craving for rich, sweet foods. You have less desire to overeat fattening foods—but you never suffer a hungry moment. Second, the natural dextrose in Welch's is quickly consumed, and by this process not only aids nature in consuming excess fat but also increases your energy.

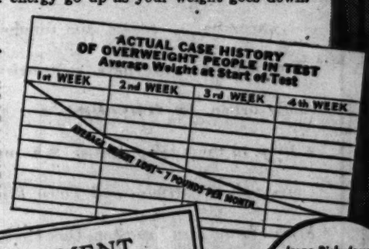
That is why weight is lost naturally; why you not only look better but actually feel better; have more energy. And this proved method is just as beneficial and effective for overweight men, as it is for overweight women.

Do This One Important Thing!

Be sure to use only genuine Welch's Grape Juice, selected by Dr. Damrau in his convincing test. Welch's is always full strength. It contains full measure of natural dextrose which is so important. And because Welch's is always full strength, it is delicious when diluted—very economical to use. Start this proved reducing method today and watch your energy go up as your weight goes down.

Sensational Facts About Amazing Welch Way to Reduce

Dr. Frederic Damrau of New York made a revealing test on a group of intelligent and cooperative people who followed his instructions implicitly. By following this simple, pleasant Welch Way to reduce, these people lost an average of 7 pounds per month. Chart at right shows actual weight loss registered. Sworn statement below verifies all claims made for this reducing method.



SWORN STATEMENT

"I hereby certify that I have interviewed Dr. Frederic Damrau of 417 Park Avenue, New York, with reference to the Welch reducing test conducted under his supervision. I have also reviewed his scientific records and case reports. To the best of my knowledge and belief, based on the accuracy of Dr. Damrau's records and statements, the facts concerning this reducing test and the chart of average weight reductions are substantially correct."

Icelandic Girl Pianist Wins Park Laurels

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Iceland has barged its way even into Grant park news. A 12 year old native of that island, Valdine Conde, came to the lake front band shell last night to appear as piano soloist with the Woman's Symphony orchestra. The conductor was her teacher, the Chicago pianist and educator, Rudolph Ganz.

"A very pure type of Icelandic beauty," said a connoisseur in the audience as the slim, blonde, ringleted little pianist walked onto the stage. But such considerations were entirely forgotten as soon as she came to grips with the Liszt E Flat concerto.

For this tiny Icelander displayed a confidence that was nothing less than amazing. Even in the piece's bravura episodes she was always in there punching—giving as good as she got and keeping her balance unflinchingly.

So great was the applause after the concerto that an encore became a plain necessity. Far from picking out something easy, our flyweight pianist calmly took on Liszt's muscular "Rigoletto" paraphrase and had it eating out of her hand before the gong.

The most encouraging thing about her playing was not its fluency and confidence [after all, plenty of children have these] but the beginnings of sound musical sense which it showed. In the paraphrase, especially, there were several quite eloquent phrases.

Preceding the appearance of the soloist, Mr. Ganz and the orchestra presented the overture to Glinka's "Russian and Ludmilla" and the Franck symphony. The former had sufficient ginger, the latter a very lovely gentleness and mysticism. The things which make Mr. Ganz a good pianist also make him a good conductor. He treats music as living speech, and lets the meaning of a piece express itself naturally in easy phrase lines and apt tone colorings.

Chicagoans to Show Horses at Oconomowoc

BY JUDITH CASS.

HORSE vans, trailers, and trucks laden with sleek, shining animals, are arriving this week in Oconomowoc, Wis., for the Oconomowoc Hunt club's biennial horse show tomorrow and Saturday. The show will open at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and classes will start again at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning.

The show will be held at the Frederick Pabst farms. An increase of 50 per cent in the list of entries, applications for more than 100 stalls, an increased interest in children's events, and the evidence of better attendance at small meets in neighboring communities indicate that the show will be one of the largest and most successful in years. Proceeds will be given to the American Red Cross.

The Milwaukee and the Oconomowoc Hunt clubs hold shows in alternate years, and the Milwaukee members are helping members of Oconomowoc with their show. William M. Chester is chairman of the event.

One of the moving spirits of the show is dashing, white haired Mrs. Owen L. Prime, who is well known in Lake Forest hunting circles, having exhibited many times in the Mill Creek's hunter trials, and also in the Lake Forest Horse show. A number of Lake Foresters, as well as others from the Chicago area, will exhibit in Oconomowoc.

Mrs. William R. Odell Jr. Will Exhibit First Whip.

Mrs. William R. Odell Jr., who hasn't exhibited in the Milwaukee area for several years, is going to show her brown gelding, First Whip. Miss Betty Mead will show her new thorobred mare, Carneill. Her mother, Mrs. Edwad H. Bennett, and Mr. Bennett, are taking up two other horses, Down Home and Darrock.

Mrs. Kimball Salisbury's daughter, Joy, will show her gray mare, Alaska, which formerly was owned by the Clyde Fullers of Milwaukee. The DeWitt Buchanans of Lake Forest, who have a summer home in Oconomowoc, will be watching their subdeb daughter, Nancy, in the show ring. John F. Jelke III. of Lake Forest, who will show two horses; Jeanne Lee Hester of Morton Grove, and Miss Merrill Hubbard are some of the other young people who will be taking part.

The Denison B. Hulls have entered their well known hunt team of three grays—Frosty Morning, Blue Stone, and Ironic. The junior William B. McIlvaines are exhibiting, too, and so are Mrs. Louis F. Swift Jr., Mrs. Montgomery Orr, and Stanley Luke.

W. Brock Fuller, who often comes to the Chicago area to judge horse shows, and Mrs. Fuller; Mrs. Merrill Hubbard, the McIlvaines, Mrs. Prime, the Pabsts, and the Hulls have taken boxes for the two day show. Other box holders include the Joseph Uihleins, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Thwaits, the Buchanans, the Thomas S. Van Alyeas, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester. Brock Fuller is the ring chairman.

Miss Frances Price's Wedding to Be July 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Price Jr. [Gretchen Onderdonk] are arriving on Saturday from Pasadena, Cal., to attend the parties preceding the marriage of their sister, Miss Frances Price, to Lieut. Clinton Edward Frank. During the ceremony on July 26 in the senior Prices' home in Winnetka, Mrs. Price will serve as matron of honor. Her small daughter, Gail, who is nearly 3, will be the bride's flower girl and only other attendant.

First of the parties for Miss Price will be a luncheon which Mrs. Price Jr. and Mrs. William Onderdonk will give on Tuesday in the latter's home in Winnetka. Miss Betty Crilly will entertain at luncheon on the following day for Miss Price and a recent bride, Mrs. Sangston Hettler Jr. Miss Evelyn Shuman's barbecue is scheduled for July 22, and the Prices will give the bridal dinner on July 25 at the Indian Hill club. President Harper's Biography.

A lively and readable biography is that of the late William Rainey Harper, first president of the University of Chicago, by Milton S. Mayer, a little red booklet that was distributed to guests at the university's luncheon recently observing the fiftieth anniversary of President Harper's accession to office. Chicagoans—and educators everywhere—should read it, Chicagoans with pride that so brilliant, so honest, and so far seeing a man as Harper should have been one of them; educators to renew their faith and ideals.

A portrait of President Harper—the one that has hung for 40 years in Hutchinson Commons at the University of Chicago, is now hanging at the Art institute in the temporary exhibit of Chicagoans who made Chicago great. Painted by Gari Melchers, it shows Harper in academic robe with hood—probably the one in which he received his Ph. D. degree from Yale, his round and guileless face alight and eager. The face might be that of either of his sons, Samuel N., professor of Russian languages and institutions at the University of Chicago, or Paul, prominent attorney.

A personal side-note: Milton Mayer's biography mentions Bishop John Vincent, who organized Chautauqua in the '70s and induced President Harper to come as director. Harper's son Paul is married to the granddaughter of Bishop Vincent, who as Isabel Vincent, daughter of the late George E. Vincent, was a southside neighbor of the Harper family. In fact, there is in existence a photograph of Paul Harper and Isabel Vincent, at the age of 3, bowing to each other in costumes at a children's costume party.

'Real Angels' of World War Convene Here

BY MARCIA WINN.

A handful of the 2,000 or so young women who were known as the "real angels" to wounded American soldiers of the first World war gathered at the Hotel Morrison yesterday to open their 21st reunion.

Back in 1917, when the United States entered the war, they were young craftsmen, physical education instructors, or artists and volunteered their services to the army medical corps as occupational and physical therapists. Known as reconstruction aides, since their field was the rehabilitation of crippled body and mind, they wore the official insignia, "R. A.," on their blue and oxford gray uniforms.

For this they become known to the thousands of shell shocked and wounded soldiers whom they treated in hospitals here and in France as "real angels."

In the fall of 1920 117 of the young women, who had worked at the army hospital at Fort Sheridan, met at the home of the official "hospital mother," Mrs. Henry E. Mason, in Highland Park.

Later they formed a national World War Reconstruction Aides association. The women who gathered at the Morrison yesterday, most of them now gray haired, were there to open its sixth biennial convention.

Many of the R. A.'s left the government service, in which they were classified as civilian employés, after their official demobilization in 1920. Innumerable others, however, continued to nurse for the ensuing 21 years the wreckage of that war.

One of them, Miss Noreen Regan, for instance, is now chief occupational therapist at Hines hospital. Another, Miss Lillian Barrett, is chief physiotherapist there. Others are in veterans' bureau hospitals thruout the country, trying thru bits of colored wool, silver, or paint to arouse wardulled minds, or thru muscular reeducation to soothe crippled bodies.

Dr. John S. Coulter, commanding officer of the base hospital at Savenoy, France, during the World war and now head of the school of physical therapy at Northwestern university medical school, will be principal speaker at the banquet tonight. Thru the last 21 years he has struggled futilely to acquire military status for R. A.'s, who now are preparing to volunteer their services again "for whatever use can be made of us in the national emergency."

This Is Sally's Party Day at the Chicago

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Today's party day, boys and girls, and I'm sure that every one of the 50 boys and 50 girls who will be my guests today are awfully glad that it has finally arrived!

When I invited my guests to attend this treat at the Chicago Theater, I knew you'd enjoy seeing Bob Hope in his latest comedy, "Caught in the Draft," but I didn't know that we'd have a visiting celebrity on the stage. Phil Harris and his band are now at the Chicago, so we'll see his show, in addition to the movie.

Let's all be prompt today, and don't, whatever you do, forget to tuck that invitation into a pocket, so it will be sure to come along with you.

After I take care of my guests for this week's party at the Chicago theater, I'm going to select 100 boys and girls from all those who've written in for invitations to next week's party, at the Hotel Sherman. If you've written in for an invitation to the special show which my guests will see on July 17, and mailed your letter in plenty of time, all you have to do now is keep your fingers crossed and hope for the best. Maybe you'll see your name in the list of winners which will be printed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

Two Buds Make Bows at Tea, Dinner-Dance

Two Lake Forest debutantes were presented to society yesterday, Miss Lana Jelke, daughter of the John F. Jelkes, and Miss Barbara Bronson, the Roger B. Bronsons' daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Jelke gave a tea at their home from 4 until 7 o'clock for their debutante. Miss Jelke, who is dark haired and olive skinned, wore a gown of palest blue with an overlayer of white chiffon and lace. Her flowers were a bouquet of white stephanotis surrounding one tiny white orchid, similar to a bouquet Mrs. Jelke carried on her debut day.

Mrs. Jelke, who did not wear or carry flowers, was in pinky-beige lace and chiffon. She and her daughter and Mr. Jelke received indoors.

Miss Bronson, who also is dark haired and slender, wore an unusual and stunning gown of white chiffon with silver studding thru the lower part of the blouse and upper part of the skirt, and carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. Her party was a supper-dance at the Onwentsia club, where she and her parents received in the specially lighted square court. The screened porch overlooking the swimming pool was lighted with hurricane lamps, and there was special lighting at the outdoor dance platform.

SYNOPSIS.

Orphaned since childhood, Celia Ames, 22, has no one to whom she can turn when she loses her job. In her loneliness she has fallen in love with ingratiating Val Quentin, a fellow boarder, who is always borrowing money from her. She runs into Felicity Stanmore, four years her junior, whom she mothered in convent days. Felicity's mother is dead and her father, Sir Martin, is 39, handsome and rich. Felicity invites Celia to their home for the week-end and confides to her that she is in love. The man turns out to be Val, and Celia finds that he has bought Felicity a ring with money he got from pawning Celia's jewelry. Sir Martin does not like Val and asks Celia to come live with them as Felicity's companion and help run the household during Felicity's Aunt May Allison's absence. Celia accepts. Miss Allison, jealous of Felicity's love for Celia, has made things as difficult for Celia as possible. Then, too, altho Celia is now cured of her love for Val, she is forced to warn Felicity against him, and Felicity thinks Celia is just jealous. Celia finds herself falling in love with Sir Martin and wanting to live up to his trust in her but at the same time she does not want to tell tales on Felicity. At a cabaret party Sir Martin learns that Val is divorced and living on money from his ex-wife. He forbids Val his house and is furious at Celia for not telling him. Felicity, rebellious, disappears, and Celia frantically follows and finds her on board a train en route to meet Val in Paris. But just as she finds her, Celia stumbles and sprains her ankle badly. As a last desperate effort to stop the elopement Celia tells Felicity about Val pawning her jewelry. Felicity, convinced he is no good, throws his ring away and goes back home. She begs Celia not to tell her father, but Sir Martin suspects something is wrong and quarrels with Celia for not telling him what it is. Miss Allison returns home and tells Celia they all think she would be better off in a nursing home where her ankle could be looked after properly.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

PRODIGAL'S RETURN.

At the door she looked back and smiled quite kindly.

"I'll send Stevens to help you down the stairs," she said.

* * *

Where, if she had any, were Celia's friends?

Altho now it was quite impossible to misunderstand Martin Stanmore's attitude toward her. He did not count himself her friend any more. He had looked in briefly after the doctor's visit, but Felicity was there, too, and he had only stayed a couple of minutes. And perhaps Felicity was hurt or annoyed with her because she had made that little scene this morning. Perhaps both Martin and Felicity thought her an ungrateful little hound. In a way, she thought so herself.

But they were civilized people, and if they wanted to shift her into a nursing home, at least they would give her a courteous sendoff.

The mystery deepened when Jenkins hurried in. Jenkins had found out which way to jump and was no longer on the fence. She was now the same Jenkins whose expression had said so plainly that anybody who thought she could take Miss Allison's place in Leighton House was the victim of gross self-deception.

They exchanged few words. Celia had all she could do to dress herself, and anyway Jenkins already knew what went into the suitcases and bags.

She held up the pale blue peignoir with a doubtful look.

"I'm not taking any of the things Miss Felicity so kindly lent me," Celia said. She was very glad, indeed, that her voice did not tremble.

"O—I wasn't sure, Miss."

"Or the party dress—or the things that went with it."

"But Miss, I thought—"

"I am not taking them," Celia repeated in a tone which seemed to suggest that Jenkins was slightly half-witted.

"Very good, miss. Here's some money on the dressing table."

"O, yes—you might kindly give that to Miss Allison after I am gone. I think I'm quite ready now."

Her purse was empty but that did not seem to matter a bit.

Stevens came up and gave her an arm down the stairs. He seemed subdued and uneasy, as tho he wanted to say something but didn't dare. Jenkins followed with the bags, and there was a taxi at the door.

At the last moment Miss Allison appeared, scurrying along the marble corridor, her long, full skirt rustling importantly. She had a folded slip of paper in her hand.

"Dear me, I didn't think you'd be ready quite so soon. Poor child, I wish I could come with you, but I find there are so many things I must do. Even in a few days a house like this can get terribly out of hand. But here's the address, and the taxi is paid. Give this to the driver, Stevens. . . . Good-by, Celia. Take care of that ankle, and when you are feeling a little better, write and let me know how you are getting on."

Not a sign of Martin or Felicity, nor a word from Auntie May about them.

Celia looked her firmly in the eye.

"Good-by, I'm awfully sorry to have put you to such a lot of trouble," she said.

Again Stevens gave her that dumb, anxious look, as tho he wanted to say something but lacked the courage. Celia smiled at him. At least he was her friend; she felt his sympathy reaching out to comfort her in this moment of bitter humiliation. Yes, and there was even a subdued glint of sympathy from the starchy Jenkins.

"Never mind the address that was given you," she said. "I want to go to Alanbrook. It's in West Cromwell road, the second on the left as you—"

"Right, lady. I know where it is."

The afternoon was overcast, the atmosphere acrid with that peculiar smokiness so familiar to the lungs of Londoners. One's eyes and skin smarted and it certainly added its quota to the wretchedness of life in general.

Celia closed her eyes, feeling smudged and world weary. Why, she was right back where she had started, but with a lame ankle and sadly wounded feelings thrown in for good measure.

There was just one bright spot in the whole miserable business—Val Quentin was in Paris. Two bright spots, perhaps, for at least Miss Best was her friend. And shouldn't one count kind Mr. Parker, who, still in blissful ignorance of his privilege, was going to start being kind all over again to Celia Ames?

Now, then, pull yourself together, my bonny lass; throw out your chest and don't let anybody know how sorry you'd like them to feel for you.

Even the Helpful Ladies might find it a little difficult to fit Celia Ames with so much as a part-time job at this particular moment. Miss Volsey's Pekes were out of the running, naturally, and Dr. Schonbaum's sister would have recovered from her cold by this time, while Mrs. Ismallan of the Rookery, Tunbridge Wells—if she had not yet been suited—was a consideration for the future. And somehow, it's always in the present that necessity looms its largest.

Was it, or was it not, Miss Best's afternoon off duty?

The taxi drew up and Alanbrook's rheumatic old porter ambled out for Celia's possessions. He did not seem particularly surprised to see her. Perhaps he thought she had only been away for a holiday. But he was sorry to see she had a bad foot and helped her up the steps with great care.

And Miss Best was on duty. Nor did the return of the prodigal surprise her, either; but then, nothing ever did surprise Miss Best.

"Of course we're pleased to see you, Miss Ames, but it would have been better if you could have given us a little notice," she said.

Celia managed a wry smile.

"Less than a hour ago I didn't know I was coming back myself. I suppose my room has been taken?"

"O, yes, the top floors are always snapped up. Nobody wants to pay more than they have to."

Celia winced slightly, but that might have been caused by her ankle.

"I'm so tired. Haven't you got anything at all?"

Miss Best considered. "Mr. Quentin's away, for I don't know how long, so if you liked—"

"I'd rather not, thank you."

"Well, there's the first floor front. We usually get 4½ a week for that—guineas, of course. But Mr. Parker might knock off a bit until we can fit you in somewhere else. That's all we have at present."

"I'll take it," said Celia.

She did not even ask how much Mr. Parker could be persuaded to knock off. She might just as well be hung for a sheep as a lamb. In the old days, apparently, they used to hang you for stealing either.

"It will be more comfortable for you," said Miss Best. "You won't have all those stairs, and its got a balcony and a nice little dressing room attached. More like a proper sitting room, really."

Of course, even the first floor front, with all its amenities, bore no faint resemblance to Leighton House, and it wasn't even home to Celia Ames, who at this moment was suffering the pangs of acute nostalgia.

June Graduates at N. U. Display High Job Record

Seventy-eight per cent of the June graduates in Northwestern university's liberal arts, speech, engineering, and commerce schools already have been placed in positions, or are not in the market for jobs. This was announced yesterday by Robert E. Day, director of placement for Northwestern, who said it compared with 1940's record of 57 per cent.

Day said that about 40 per cent of the men employed are in the armed service of the United States, and that every graduate from the technological institute was placed, as were all those awarded masters' degrees from the commerce school. There also was a great demand for women secretarial workers, Day said.

The market was definitely off, however, for teachers, apparently because of the uncertain enrollment in private schools.

Good Morning!

KIND: "Dated" French triangle melodrama. . . . Judging from costumes, photography, makeup and such, the piece was made some years ago.

ACTING: Able . . . honors to Mr. Boyer as the betrayed husband and George Grossmith as "the other man's" friend. . . . Natalie Paley knows her way about but doesn't inspire much sympathy—partly because of her rôle and partly just because she doesn't.

DIRECTION: Not bad.

ENGLISH TITLES: Better than some.

STORY: The usual three cornered affair with a couple of variations.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: To the ladies—Mr. Boyer!

See you soon.

The ring mold was a clever idea on the part of some kitchen utensil maker. It has a dozen and one uses. Most of us cooks first made jellied salads and desserts in the ring mold. Then we began to use it for making meat loaf, spinach or carrot ring, preparing a ring of macaroni, noodles, or rice. Food looks so attractive when shaped into a ring and served on a platter, that we're finding our big and little ring molds dandy little kitchen helps.

Carmel cornflake ring filled with ice cream or blanc mange is a delicious dessert. The ring is merely shaped in the mold, and needs no baking.

Carmel Cornflake Ring.

[9 inch mold or 12 3½ inch molds.]

1½ cups brown sugar
2 tablespoons corn sirup
½ cup milk
¼ cup butter
6 cups cornflakes

Cook sugar, sirup, milk, and butter, stirring occasionally to prevent burning, until temperature reaches 238-240 degrees as indicated on the candy thermometer. This is the medium firm ball stage, a little firmer texture than the usual fudge soft ball test. Butter a large mixing bowl and add cornflakes. Pour hot sirup over cornflakes, stirring to coat them all. Pack into the ring mold and cool. Unmold and serve with ice cream or blanc mange. The individual rings are very attractive filled with ice cream. Sliced fresh peaches also are delicious with this cornflake mixture.

Baked noodle ring filled with creamed shrimp, chicken à la king, or hot buttered vegetables is an easy to serve and pleasant to eat luncheon dish.

Noodle Ring.

[Medium ring mold.]

¼ pound egg noodles
1½ cups scalded milk
1 cup fine bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter
1 pimiento, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 eggs

Cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender, and drain. Pour hot milk over crumbs and add butter, pimiento, parsley, and seasonings. Beat eggs until light, and add them. Grease the ring mold thoroly and distribute the cooked noodles evenly in the bottom. Pour over the milk mixture. Bake the mold in a pan of hot water at 350 degrees until firm. Forty-five minutes to an hour should be long enough. Turn out the ring and serve filled with a creamed mixture or buttered vegetables.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

The little curl brush that a hair specialist brought out not so long ago is one of the handiest of all grooming gadgets in summer.

You know what it is? A small brush about six inches long, wooden backed, and set with only three rows of good stiff bristles. The handle has a "rat-tail" point just as those superbly useful combs have and the whole thing can be carried quite conveniently in the average sized purse.

The bristles are longer at one end of the brush head than they are at the other. It's no trick at all to keep your curls in order with this; you simply brush the hair, twist it up with the rat-tail, and then, if it's necessary, smooth the finished curl lightly with the brush again. In summer, when so many girls go hatless, this little curl brush is invaluable. After swimming or active exercise this is wonderfully useful in restoring the hair to its usual decorative order.

This year, as never before, hair is required to have the brushed look. That doesn't necessarily mean that the coiffure is stiff, but it emphatically means that the hair must have high, healthy, and flattering gloss. Every time you touch this brush to your locks during the day you're doing yourself a beauty service.

But perhaps what we like it best for is its usefulness in keeping the back hair in order. The back view of 99 out of a 100 feminine heads is anything but pretty. The little brush is a good thing to use on your back hair a couple of times a day. And if you have a pompadour you'll find it the best little grooming aid you've ever tried!

There are further complications, culminating in Chris' and Veronica's stealing popsickles.

The leading players in this comedy series are Bret Morrison [Chris], Barbara Luddy [Veronica], and Marvil Mueller [Swells]. Other rôles are taken by Bob Jellison, Phil Lord, Donna Reade, and Malcolm Meacham. William A. Bacher produces the show. Forrest Barnes is the author.

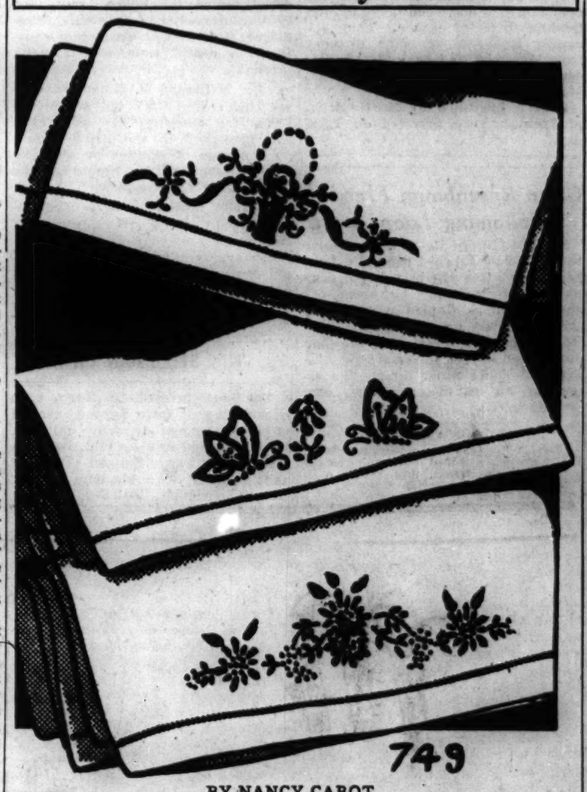
Three Embroidery Motifs



BY NANCY CABOT.

Flower basket, butterfly, and field flower embroidery motifs are offered as a happy combination for summer needlework, because they are simple to do and the stitches are not difficult. The hot iron transfer design contains two of each of the motifs illustrated, and they measure 4 by 10 to 4 by 15 inches, lend themselves ideally to pillow cases, and are just what the young needleworker can use to start for her "very own."

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the flower basket, butterfly, and field flower for pillow slips, No. 749, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 230 5th avenue, New York City.

Special Numbers—The number 18 always has been considered unlucky for love. Uusually one suffers thru treachery and deceit, so if you have this number anywhere in your name or birthdate, don't trust other people too much. Don't let other people handle your money. It promises many disillusionments in friendships and love. It gives bad judgment and evil associations. The symbol is "'The Twilight" or "The Dark Path," suggesting that one who walks with this number is surrounded by treachery he cannot see. If the number of some one else and your number combine to make 18, be careful in your dealings with that person. Don't trust your judgment of them.

They'll Make Cry Heard at Watertown Rally.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Watertown, Wis., July 9.—Citizens of Jefferson and Dodge counties, a cross section of American community life, are planning to rally at Memorial park here Sunday afternoon as exponents of a belief that America should be the warehouse of humanity rather than an arsenal of democracy.

The idea of a widespread citizens' demonstration against intervention in any other country's war and in support of impregnable defense of the United States was conceived in the minds of a group of citizens headed by Mayor Walter A. Nack. It spread in 24 hours of word of mouth promotion until it promises to be one of the most widely attended meetings of the home folks in the history of central Wisconsin.

Congressman Mundt to Speak.

Karl E. Mundt, congressman of South Dakota, is coming to address the rally, but the motive power behind the meeting, which has brought promises of participation from folks of half a dozen nearby counties, comes from the people themselves.

Jefferson county knows the sentiments of its own people and its neighbors, but the rally was planned as concrete testimony to the lawmakers in the nation's capital against what Charles E. Kading, young attorney here and member of the sponsoring committee, called "the hysterical din of Washington warmongers."

"We would like other communities like ours to break thru this confusion and make America heard in its unquestioned desire to build our country into a unity impregnable to external attack or to the dry rot of internal exhaustion," King said.

Big Turnout Is Expected.

Mayor Nack said today that everybody in the community will be at the rally. Many of the farm families and neighbors from Fort Atkinson, Jefferson, Whitewater, Horicon, Beaver Dam, and even up to Fond du Lac will bring their lunch baskets and make a picnic of the day along the Rock river.

"If they could have a chance to vote on the question of staying out of Europe's war and minding our own knitting, they would all vote yes," the mayor said.

"We believe in defense of America all right," he added, "but we're not being fooled."

EX-CONVICT BRANDED AN EXTORTIONIST BY POLICY KING MARTIN

James [Big Jim] Martin, Negro policy king, last night identified Harvey Rogers, ex-convict, as one of three men who robbed him of $300 last May 27 and tried to extort $50,000 on threat of killing Mrs. Martin. The identification, on which Mrs. Martin and Ike Knox, Martin chauffeur, agreed, was made at a special showup in the state's attorney's office.

Harvey Rogers.

According to Capt. Dan Gilbert of the state's attorney's office and Sergt. Edward Dooley of the detective bureau, Rogers, a Thomas O'Brien, since slain by Springfield police, and a third man, curbed the Martin car near Martin's Maywood home by pretending to be policemen. They disarmed Knox, drove some distance from Maywood, and finally freed their captives after threats to kill Mrs. Martin.

Gimp Rosenbaum Freed Following Loop Arrest

Sanford [Gimp] Rosenbaum, former bodyguard for Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, prohibition era beer baron, was discharged yesterday by Municipal Judge Oscar S. Caplan when police said there was no case against him. Rosenbaum was arrested in the loop June 1 and booked for disorderly conduct. A police order directs the arrest of all police characters seen downtown.

INJURIES IN FALL FATAL.

OPEN HEARINGS ON 3 ABORTION SLAYING CASES

Grand Jury and 2 Courts Sift Evidence.

The Cook county grand jury and two courts took action yesterday on three deaths which, the state charges, resulted from the activities of abortionists in Chicago. The day's events:

1. The grand jury launched a thoro investigation into the abortion death last May 5 of Mrs. Rose Smith, hearing Dr. B. J. Mix of St. Mary of Nazareth hospital and half a dozen other witnesses. A subpena was ordered issued for Police Lieutenant William Stegeman, whose wife, Magdalene Motzny, was accused of causing the death, then won a nolle prosequi.

2. Dr. Nathaniel H. Schaffner, who has served two federal prison terms for narcotics law violations, was arraigned in the Felony court on a charge of murder by abortion after the death of Mrs. Emma Laisure in his office on Monday.

3. Daniel Moriarity, suspended policeman of the state's attorney's staff and confessed fixer for an abortion ring, went to trial in the Criminal court for the slaying on April 29 of Miss Ada Jane [Jennie] Martin, whom he says he shot to death by mistake.

THE STEGEMAN CASE

The Smith investigation began with questioning of Beve Smith, husband of the young mother of five children. He is reported to have told Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Papanek that he went with his wife to Mrs. Stegeman's office, 1041 Noble street, on May 1, but told the elderly midwife there must be no abortion.

On Saturday he received a phone call and was told to pick up his wife at Mrs. Stegeman's, he is reported to have testified, adding that he found her seated on the steps. Someone called from an upstairs window: "She needs attention." A car was waiting to take them to St. Mary's of Nazareth hospital. On the way, he said, Mrs. Smith told him they were to ask for Dr. Mix.

Jury Hears Physician.

Dr. Mix, who attended Mrs. Smith at the hospital until her death, went before the grand jury later in the day. He is reported to have testified that shortly before the Smiths arrived he received a mysterious phone call informing him that they were on their way.

Other witnesses of the day included Bernice Wysocki, 2165 North Oakley avenue, a friend of Mrs. Smith, who told of a visit to Mrs. Stegeman's office, and Jack and Theresa Battaglia, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Smith, who said she told them she had submitted to an abortion.

Mrs. Stegeman was arraigned in Felony court on Monday, but the case was nolle prossed because the state lacked evidence, as Papanek explained afterward. When Smith protested he had not been informed the hearing was to be held, State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney ordered a full grand jury investigation.

In addition to Lieut. Stegeman, the grand jury will hear interns and nurses from St. Mary's when it resumes the inquiry on Monday.

THE SCHAFFNER CASE

Dr. Schaffner's arraignment was continued until July 22, pending completion of the inquest, but the case against him was outlined by Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin at a habeas corpus hearing in the Criminal court before Chief Justice James F. Fardy.

Sherwin quoted Earl G. Laisure, husband of the 29 year old victim, as saying he sat in an anteroom of Dr. Schaffner's office at 4009 Lincoln avenue while the doctor began an illegal operation. On hearing his wife cry out, Laisure ran into the operating room, saw Dr. Schaffner lift his wife from an operating table to a couch, and saw her die, Sherwin said.

The physician tried to prevent Laisure and his father-in-law from notifying the police, the prosecutor quoted Laisure as saying. Judge Fardy set bail at $5,000, upsetting an earlier ruling by Judge John T. Zuris of Felony court, who had denied bail.

License Quiz Opened.

Meanwhile, the state's attorney's office began an investigation of the circumstances under which Dr. Schaffner's license was restored after he was released from prison. It was learned not only that a prison sentence is no bar to resumption of practice, but also that under Illinois law Dr. Schaffner—if he is freed on bail—may continue to practice pending his trial on the current murder charge.

A. J. Meadle, Chicago director of the state department of registration and education, said Dr. Schaffner's application for license restoration was accompanied by more than 70 letters attesting his good character and ability as a physician.

THE MORIARITY CASE

Moriarity's murder trial began in the Criminal court with a sharp tug of war between the prosecution and defense over selection of a jury. Assistant State's Attorneys Richard Austin and Alex Napoli began qualifying prospective jurors to inflict the death penalty, while Attorney James M. Burke asked veniremen if they would be prejudiced against an insanity defense. Only one juror was tentatively accepted. The case will be resumed this morning.

Miss Martin, who was 24 years old, was shot to death in her home, 4367 Lake Park avenue. After his arrest, Moriarity said he had mistaken the girl for her mother, Mrs. Ada Martin, who is under indictment as head of the abortion ring. The ex-policeman said he feared Mrs. Martin had threatened to expose his connection with the ring.

FOUND STABBED TO DEATH.

Nelson Hall, 55, colored, of 5837 South State street, was found stabbed to death yesterday in a room occupied by Albert Strong, 47, also colored, at 6041 Prairie avenue. Police seized Strong.

THE PLEASANT-TASTING EFFERVESCENT SALINE

13 SHOT, SCORE MORE HURT IN MINE RIOTING

Pottsville, Pa., July 9 (AP).—Thirteen men were wounded by shotgun pellets and 20 others were hurt by clubs and stones today in two riotous clashes between independent miners and private detectives guarding a strip mining operation near Donaldson in Pennsylvania's lower anthracite region.

The disorder, high on Good Spring mountain, 16 miles west of here, was the culmination of a long fight by the miners against surface stripping of coal veins with power shovels—a practice they contend destroys property values and lessens employment opportunities.

Order hardly had been restored by state troopers when a second group of miners moved in on another surface operation five miles west of here, burned an air compressor, and seized and drove away a power shovel. None of those shot was wounded seriously. Six detective were treated for other injuries.

WOOD ROUTED IN PGA; NELSON, SNEAD ADVANCE

Fight Decisions

At Chicago Stadium—Booker Beckwith knocked out Nash Garrison [1]; Quentin Breese beat Frankie Martin [10]; Nick Castiglione beat Leo Rodak [10]; Jimmy Joyce beat Ronald Born [4]; Altus Allen knocked out Bill Peterson [0].
At Brooklyn, N. Y.—Tami Mauriello stopped Steve Mamakos [0].

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Booker Beckwith knocked out Nash Garrison of San Jose, Cal., in 2 minutes 7 seconds of the first round of a scheduled 10 round bout which topped the opening show in the Chicago Stadium's new outdoor arena last night.

It was the 1938 international and inter-city Golden Gloves middleweight champion's tenth victory in this manner and kept his two year professional record clear of defeats. This is the bright side. The other side is that spectators, 3,774 of them who contributed gross receipts of $8,476.08, booed and filled the air with accusations that Garrison took a dive.

Referee Tommy Thomas said the blow which floored Garrison for the count was a clean one, and consequently the decision will go down in the record books as a bona fide knockout.

Clark Threatens Ban.

However, Chairman Sheldon Clark of the Illinois Athletic commission, wasn't convinced by the way Nash fluttered to the canvas. Clark made it plain he thought the knockout was simulated by saying, "Garrison never will fight in this state again while I'm on the commission."

Beckwith, the young man from Gary, Ind., for whom a world light heavyweight or heavyweight championship had been predicted because of his excellent fighting in recent months, carried out his end of the fight. He came out of his corner intent on ending matters in a hurry, but even he was surprised when Garrison went down so abruptly from an ordinary punch. Garrison weighed 198 pounds, 26 more than Beckwith. This was the Californian's only advantage.

Rodak Loses Close One.

Nick Castiglione, west side 138 pound slugger, scored his first triumph in five starts when he was given a 10 round verdict over Leo Rodak of the south side. Rodak is the only boxer who has won three Golden Gloves titles. Rodak's superior ring generalship and clever boxing most of the way gave many fans the impression he earned the decision in this, his first Chicago appearance in two years. Castiglione's heavier punching caught the eyes of the officials, however.

In a contest which followed the windup, Altus Allen, Chicago heavyweight, knocked out Bill Petersen of Indiana Harbor in the third round. The match was listed for eight rounds.

Breese Beats Martin.

Quentin [Babe] Breese, Milwaukee lightweight, beat Frankie [Chief Crazy Horse] Martin of Pasadena, Cal., in the 10 round semi-final. Breese was awarded a unanimous decision.

Jimmy Joyce, 1940 Golden Gloves bantamweight finalist appearing in his first professional fight, scored a decision over Ronald Born of Granite City, Ill., in a four round opener. Joyce's margin of victory was a three count knockdown he registered in the second round.

—and Then Came the Finish

SOX SEND RIGNEY OUT TONIGHT TO WHIP SENATORS

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox, including Eddie Smith, winning pitcher in the All-Star game at Detroit, and fellow All-Star, Thornton Lee, but sans their doughty manager, James Dykes, will be in Comiskey park tonight as hosts to the Washington Senators. The lamplight affair will be the opener of a three game series, also the opener of the third 1941 invasion by the eastern teams.

John Rigney will be the Sox pitcher and he will try to bring his lifetime record against the Senators to .500, seven victories against the seven defeats he already has suffered. This season John has won one from and lost one to Washington. He will be opposed by Ken Chase, who has lost two to the Sox this year and has nothing on the credit side of the ledger. Like Rigney, Ken has won six and lost seven in the inter-team competition.

Injury Benches Lodigiani.

Bob Kennedy, who has been crowded almost entirely out of the picture by Dario Lodigiani, will be at third base tonight and probably for the next 10 days. Lodigiani is incapacitated by a fracture of the middle joint of the index finger on his left hand, an injury suffered in the Cleveland game last Saturday.

The three matches with the Senators, current tailenders, will complete the first half of the Sox's 1941 schedule and they are more than anxious to wind up the '77 game first half total with some power hitting.

How to Manage in the Dark?

Manager Dykes, under indefinite suspension, never has tried managing from a hiding place in the stands at a night game. It is suspected he will find it difficult to wigwag from crowded boxes under artificial lights. Jim may have to hire a courier to gallop his instructions to the field of battle.

Dykes, set down because of alleged use of naughty, naughty language and umpire bulldozing, is said to be undecided whether to wear a disguise. He prefers to sit in the stands dressed as himself.

Out of Town Entrants File for 100 Yard Swim Trials

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[ENTRY BLANK ON NEXT PAGE.]

Elkhart, Ind., McHenry, Momence, and Bloomington, Ill., were included in the list of cities from which entries were received yesterday for the qualifying trials in the 12th annual 100 yard free style swimming races sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. Other adjacent towns such as Harvey, La Grange, and Crystal Lake also were represented but naturally the bulk of the entries continue to come from Chicago.

Betty Harrison.

Paul Steele, of Elkhart, Ind., will compete in Class C in the qualifying races July 19 in the Sherman park pool at 52d street and Racine avenue. Walter Mateta, of Momence, Ill., will swim in the same sectional meet but he is entered in class E for boys 19 years of age and over.

North Sider Enters.

Jim Hastings, of Bloomington, Ill., is another Class C swimmer and he will report on July 19 at the Cermak pool, 7600 Ogden avenue, Lyons, Ill. Anthony Kozakiewicz Jr., registered in class B for boys 13 and 14 years of age, mailed his entry from McHenry, Ill., but he is a resident of Chicago's north side and belongs to the Lane Technical High school club. Anthony will swim in the 100 yard trials on July 20 at California park.

The fourth qualifying meet is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, July 20, at Whealan pool, Milwaukee and Devon avenues. From these four meets will come the swimmers eligible to enter the ten championship races at California park on July 27. All boys and girls who wish to compete in the sectional races must file their entries before midnight Sunday. No post entries will be accepted at any qualifying section.

Champions Can't Repeat.

Betty Harrison, of the Chicago Towers club, who won the Chicagoland championship in class D last year, has filed her entry in class E for the qualifying races at Cermak pool. Champions can not compete again in the age division in which they won their titles but they can advance to higher age classes. This rule automatically bars the two class E champions each year. Miss Harrison again will represent the Towers club, winner in 1940 of the team titles for both boys and girls.

All swimmers qualfying for the finals from the four sectional meets will receive gold medals. Ten gold, ten silver, and ten bronze medals are the awards in the championships July 27.

Sectional meets will start at 2 p. m. but swimmers will report an hour earlier to the clerks in charge. Postcards will be mailed all contestants and these admit to the pools without charge. These cards will not be mailed until next week.

TAMI MAURIELLO STOPS MAMAKOS IN 9TH ROUND

New York, July 9 [Special].—Tami Mauriello, hard hitting New York middleweight, scored a technical knockout over Steve Mamakos of Washington, D. C., in 1 minute 15 seconds of the ninth round before 8,000 at Ebbets field tonight.

Tigers Beat Grand Rapids on 4 Hit Pitching, 6 to 1

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 9 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers, behind excellent pitching by Hal Newhouser and Schoolboy Rowe, defeated the Grand Rapids Colts of the Michigan State league, 6 to 1, in an exhibition game before 3,000 today. Newhouser pitched the first six innings and yielded three hits, one a home run by Walt Chipple. He struck out 12. Score:

IDLE SUN WINS, WAR MINSTREL FATALLY HURT

Tragedy Mars Victory for Denemark Stable.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Mrs. Emil Denemark's Idle Sun led the way home in the $2,500 Grassland handicap over Arlington Park's turf course yesterday after a hard, rough run which was punctuated by a fatal accident to the winner's stable mate, War Minstrel. Idle Sun finished a length and a half ahead of the Lexbrook stable's Ranger II., which took second place from the 40 to 1 shot, Sky Ball, by the margin of a head.

War Minstrel, conqueror of Seabiscuit in the Stars and Stripes handicap of 1938, had been making a courageous comeback at the age of seven. He had been a prominent factor in nearly every one of his races in the Chicago area this year. Yesterday his job was to go out and force a fast early pace. If he could stay for the mile and sixteenth, all well and good, but if he couldn't, then his stable mate, Idle Sun, was to come on in the stretch.

Break in Front of Grandstand.

They broke from directly in front of the grandstand and launched a rush over the grass carpet toward the clubhouse turn. War Minstrel, leaving the gate from the No. 1 post position, was right against the hedge as they approached the first curve. He was running close behind the leader, Float Away. Sky Ball, also forcing the pace, was just to the outside of Float Away, and the others in the field of 10 were pounding along, closely bunched.

They went into the gradual curve and suddenly War Minstrel, in a tight squeeze, began plowing thru the hedge. He struck one of the flag poles marking 16th intervals, snapped it off and stumbled, throwing Jockey Willie Garner.

The others went sweeping on around the bend as War Minstrel scrambled to his feet in the infield. His racing instincts urged the old fellow on. He had always been a great one to get out there in the lead as long as he had the strength, so he couldn't let them go without him now. He galloped across the infield and then began running beside the others, following the sweep of the hedge which separated the infield from the turf course.

Crowd Sees Inevitable.

And suddenly the crowd saw what was going to happen. A heavy wire fence, 5 feet high, stretched completely across the infield. It had been erected to hold the Fourth of July throng within bounds. The fans knew now that War Minstrel, which had given such a thrill to the Fourth of July crowd of 1938, was going to be the victim of the equipment which had been necessary to handle the 1941 Independence day gathering.

He kept going on and on at top speed. It seemed that he would crash

"OUT OF WAR"

In a speech at Cleveland last Nov. 2, three days before his re-election, President Roosevelt said:

"There is nothing secret about our foreign policy. . . . I have stated it many times before, not only in words, but in action. I now restate it.

"The first purpose of our foreign policy is to keep our country out of war. At the same time we seek to keep foreign conceptions of government out of the United States.

"The second purpose of this policy is to keep war as far away as possible from the shores of the entire western hemisphere."

Characters.

Every town has its well known folks,
Guileless, free of blame,
"Characters" we call them,
For want of a better name;
Daily ranging the old town's streets,
Drifting to and fro,
Regardless, they come and go.

With his gentle, well bred air,
Whenever anything's needed
"Old Bill" always seems to be there;
Then there's "Gus," the one man office supply,
Up and down this golden street

"Old Annie," who's always complaining,
"Aches and Pains" she's called,
Then the woman who's known as "Queen of the Wakes."
By weather she's never forestalled;
They call him "The Midnight Patrol,"
With no seeming aim or goal.

"Characters" we call them,
Drifting near and far,
I often wonder who they were
Before they were what they are;
Never achieving an awful lot,
No claim to fame or renown,
Yet somehow I think it's these "characters"
That humanize any town!

METZ, PICARD AND DEMARET FALL AT DENVER

Three Chicagoans Still in Running.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Denver, Colo., July 9.—And where, did you ask, are Craig Wood, Henry Picard, Jimmy Demaret, and Dick Metz at the end of today's first two rounds of match play in the twenty-fourth National Professional golf tournament at the Cherry Hills club? They just aren't in the ball game any more.

Byron Nelson, the champion? Yes, he's still around, but only after playing two full eighteens for hard earned 1 up decisions. Sam Snead, the medalist? Sure, he won his second round match, 7 and 6 but he had to go 23 holes in this morning's argument before he could go to his noonday vittles.

It was one of the wildest days in the history of the one tournament every golf professional wants to win. Yet, it is a perennial requisite to have to tell of the fall of the mighty in these sudden death opening rounds. And you can't label the gents who knock them out a bunch of fellows named Joe, for every man in this field is qualified to play a piece of golf.

Nelson Meets Guidahl.

Today there was the picture of Nelson struggling all the way with little Bunny Torpey, a highly respected workman from Kansas City. Byron was 1 down to Bunny's 34 at the turn, but won the 17th with a birdie to even it, and took the home hole with a bogey five, of all things. In the afternoon the champion was pushed the route by Bill Heinlein of Noblesville, Ind., gaining his ultimate margin with a par at the 17th. Mr. Nelson was not very happy about his labors for the day.

Tomorrow Nelson has a real problem in the first of the 36 hole third round matches, when he meets Ralph Guldahl of Chicago, who won his second straight National Open on this same course in 1938. Guldahl romped off with a 7 and 6 decision in the morning and then took a 2 and 1 match this afternoon. Last year, it so happened, Byron and Ralph met in the semi-finals of the PGA, with the former a 1 up victor. There is a suspicion tonight that they will be worth a mite of watching all day tomorrow.

Snead Pulls Out One.

Snead, who won the medal yesterday with a 138, was on the verge of that embarrassment which comes to most medalists. His tormenter was bespectacled Earl Martin of Inglewood, Cal., long a handy man on the Pacific coast. Earl had Sam'l down two at the turn, and was still that much to the good on the 17th tee. There Snead laid him a stymie. On the 18th, Earl was short in two, but it looked that he might still win when Snead's putt for a winning four teetered on the right side of the cup five seconds before it fell in. Earl matched Sam's birdie with a 22 foot putt on the 22d, but couldn't duplicate Snead's 14 foot birdie job on the fifth extra hole.

Sam then went out and made short work of Phil Greenwald, 33 year old Milwaukee pro who had created considerable consternation by his 4 and 3 defeat of Picard, the 1939 champion, in the morning round. Phil, making his match play debut in the PGA, had the able Pic 6 down and 6 to go at one point, making the turn in 32, three under par.

Wood Meets a Hot Opponent.

But it seems to us we also mentioned Craig Wood earlier. Wood's 6 and 5 defeat in the second round by Mark Fry of Oakland, Cal., was the decision that stunned every one here. That is, every one who didn't know that Mark is one of the five famous Fry brothers, all professionals, who learned their golf in the state of Washington.

Thirty-six year old Mark made the first nine today twice in 32, and the second one enabled him to be 5 up on the new National Open champion, who confessed he didn't play especially well in the match. Fry retorted to that by saying he was over his head, but that would be modesty for a man who is still great shakes in California competition, and who still holds the all time scoring average for the valuable Los Angeles Open since it was founded in 1926.

Metz, winner of the medal last year, and Demaret, hero of the 1940 winter campaign, succumbed in the first round, their respective conquerors being August Nordone of Syracuse, N. Y., and Jack Grout, late of Chicago's Northmoor club, and presently from Pittston, Pa. August lost to Vic Ghezzi this afternoon, but Grout stayed in with a 1 up victory over Fay Coleman, 1936 medalist.

Shute, Sarazen Win.

Aside from the aforementioned survivors, there are a few other names still on the bracket. Among these are two former champions, Denny Shute of Chicago, winner in 1936 and 1937, and Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Centre, Conn., the boss in 1922, 1923, and 1933. Shute was extended to the limit in both matches, first by Ray Mangrum, and again by Jimmy Foulis of Hinsdale, Ill. Sarazen got off easy in the morning, but had to come from behind and sink a seven foot birdie putt on the first extra hole to win from Tony Penna of Dayton, O.

And Ben Hogan, who has been lashing drives at Cherry Hills for days and days, will be out tomorrow to meet Horton Smith of Pinehurst, N. C., formerly of Oak Park, Ill. Hogan put out Frank Walsh, former Chicagoan, 5 and 4, then won from Bud Oakley of Palos Verdes, Cal., 2 up, in the afternoon. Smith took a ragged duel, 1 up, with another masterful putter, Paul Runyan, in the morning, and then won, 3 and 2, from Ralph Stonehouse of Dixon, Ill., who was playing with an ailing elbow.

Mangrum Is in the Running.

The third and last Chicagoan in the remaining 16 is lean Lloyd Mangrum, author of that terrific 64 in last year's Masters' tournament. Lloyd moved up with decisions of 5 and 4 and 3 and 1, neither with any undue trouble. He draws Mark Fry tomorrow.

ILLINI TRUSTEES SETTLE ZUPPKE ISSUE TUESDAY

Grange Takes Up Defense of His Former Coach.

More evidence was filed yesterday in behalf of Bob Zuppke's fight to remain on as football coach at the University of Illinois. Then, in a second development, it was officially announced the showdown to determine the future of Zuppke and possibly of Wendell [Weenie] Wilson, Illini athletic director, will come Tuesday when the university board of trustees meets in Chicago.

Harold [Red] Grange, Illinois' most famous football son, revealed in a prepared statement that Wilson had sought him as an assistant under a new coaching régime at the state school in 1938 which was to have transferred the head football coaching job from Zuppke to the athletic director. Grange strongly urged the retention of Zuppke, his stand following recent votes of confidence for the 62 year old coach by the Illini Club of Chicago and a group of former Illinois athletes and campus leaders.

Will Hear Recommendations.

Announcement of the board of trustees' meeting was made yesterday by James M. Cleary, president of that group. He said it will meet at 11 a. m. Tuesday at the university's college of medicine, 1853 Polk street.

It is at this meeting that the trustees will hear recommendations for solving the athletic impassé from the university athletic board, made up of three faculty members, three alumni, and Wilson. Zuppke two weeks ago charged he had coached for the last five years with a "knife in my back" and accused Wilson of being the leader of a faction to remove him as coach.

"Weenie came to Chicago and walked into my office," said Grange's statement. "I was surprised and shocked to hear him say that he had secured Zuppke's resignation and that he wanted me, together with Burt Ingwersen [now an aid to Lynn Waldorf at Northwestern], and Benny Oosterbaan [now a coach at Michigan], to go to Champaign and coach.

Says Athletic Board Approved.

"I asked him who was to be the head coach and he said that he was to be the football coach and athletic director.

"I asked him if the authorities had approved the action, and he said that the athletic board had taken the action and that it had been approved by President Willard. Wilson said that the rest of the procedure was merely routine. I was additionally surprised at this because Weenie, on a previous occasion, had told me that Zup had wanted me at Illinois as his assistant, but that the president would not approve it."

The statement started off by declaring that Zuppke has suffered a great injustice and that the charge he has outlived his usefulness is ridiculous.

"The present unpleasant situation has unfortunately made Zuppke the issue," continued Grange's statement. "I do not believe that it should be necessary for a football coach to spend his time securing athletes. If it is up to some one to attract players it should be the job of the athletic director, or some one especially designated for the work."

BIVINS ARRIVES, AND SAYS HE'LL WHIP FRANKLIN

Jimmy Bivins, Negro fighter from Cleveland, arrived yesterday for his 10 round bout against Lem Franklin in Marigold outdoor arena Monday. The 21 year Ohioan and 1939 Golden Gloves graduate will work out in Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon.

Altho he has had only three contests in the heavyweight class, Jim is confident of defeating Big Lem. Bivins' three victims were Buddy Knox, Pete Tamalonis, and Curtis Sheppard. He scored decision victories over Knox and Sheppard, and knocked out Tamalonis in one round.

Tho Franklin is a terrific puncher, Bivins believes he will beat Lem by outboxing and outpunching him. Bivins weighed 175 pounds yesterday, about 25 less than Lem.

The Ohioan has suffered only one defeat in 26 professional bouts. This was a disputed verdict Anton Christoforidis scored after Jimmy had beaten the former world light heavyweight title holder in an earlier encounter. Bivins, who hits hard with either hand, never has been knocked out.

Harvey Dubs of Windsor, Ont., junior welterweight, will arrive today for a 10 round supporting match against Willie Joyce. George Zengaras, New York 135 pounder, and Solly Stark, Minneapolis middleweight, will reach town tomorrow for additional contests of 10 rounds against Billy Marquart and Milt Aron, respectively.

Tony Zale, middleweight champion, will meet Ossie Harris of Pittsburgh in a 10 round nontitle bout in the next show in Chicago Stadium outdoor arena July 23. A 10 round semi-windup will bring together Tony [Cianciola] Martin, Milwaukee 160 pounder, and Ernie Vigh of New York.

Girl, 14, Beats Seeded Star in Western Meet

Indianapolis, Ind., July 9 (AP).—A 14 year old Akron, O., school girl and a vacationing Texan who no longer plays serious competitive tennis today scored major upsets in the Western tournament. Shirley Fry eliminated fifth seeded Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., 6-4, 9-7, and George Ball of El Paso, the former junior star, whipped Gardner Larned of Chicago, seeded No. 7, 2-6, 8-6, 6-1.

Ranking players had little trouble in other matches. Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, seeded No. 1; Robert Riggs of Chicago and Clinton, S. C., No. 2, and Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Cal., No. 3, stroked their way into the quarter-finals.

Smidl Extends McNeill.

McNeill eliminated Jack McLeod of Indianapolis, 6-1, 6-2, and Robert Smidl of Chicago, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2. Riggs stopped Jack Jossi of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-3. Kovacs triumphed over James McConnel of New Orleans and Marvin Wachman of Milwaukee by 6-1, 6-1.

Olin Parks of Notre Dame, Indiana collegiate champion, could offer little opposition to fourth seeded Billy Talbert of Cincinnati and was set down, 6-1, 6-1.

Dave Freeman of Pomona college trounced Charles Tichenor of Indianapolis, 6-1, 6-1, and Harris Everett of Jacksonville, Fla., eliminated Rogers Downs, another home towner, 6-4, 6-2.

Pauline Betz Wins.

Pauline Betz of Rollins college, seeded No. 1 in the women's division, and second seeded Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., coasted into the quarter-finals. Miss Betz beat Mary Ann Davis of Columbus, O., 6-0, 6-1, and Miss Bundy topped Lillian Gilberti of Chicago by the same score.

JOE LOUIS FILES REPLY TO WIFE; ADMITS NOTHING

Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, denied in an answer filed yesterday in Circuit court to the divorce suit of his wife, Marva, 25 years old, 4320 Michigan avenue, that he had ever struck her or treated her cruelly, as she charges. His answer, filed by Attorney William H. Temple, also denied that she had been kind and affectionate to him.

Louis not only asserted that his wife had no ground for leaving him last April 19, but said that her demands for support were exorbitant and unnecessary. He said she receives $300 a month rent from the Michigan avenue apartment building which he bought for her, an allowance of $100 a week, between $4,000 and $6,000 a year to pay her bills, and additional gifts up to $5,000 on other occasions.

Louis denied that he had $800,000 in property, as his wife stated, or that his earnings were $250,000 a year. He added a denial that he had ever stated that he did not want a child, altho his wife's suit made no such charge. "All this boy admits," said Temple, "is that he's champion."

"At present, Louis plans to contest the divorce," Temple added. "This decision, however, is contingent upon future developments." He declined to discuss what these developments might be.

Cubs to Open with Braves in Boston Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., June 9.—The Cubs, after absorbing rest for a few days, will get back into their fancy debutante uniforms tomorrow and go to work against the Boston Braves. It would seem that this, a three game series, is going to be a "crucial" affair even tho it has nothing to do with a pennant.

It is that way for the Cubs because they are only 2½ games ahead of their impending foes and the latter happen to be in seventh place, but nevertheless anxious to improve their status.

Their Aim Is to Climb.

Last March there was much talk of flag winning, even the club officials being quite certain such a job would be simple, but pennants are no longer proper subjects for discussion among James Wilson's sixth placers. They have quite enough on their hands just talking about how they can either climb a bit or avoid tumbling farther down the percentage ladder.

As a result of the All-Star pause Wilson can pick from among several for tomorrow's pitching job, but might decide on Vern Olsen, his young lefty. When the Cubs departed from Chicago Wilson planned on having Claude Passeau available for tomorrow. But there was a change. Passeau, who wasn't going to work at Pittsburgh, was rushed into one of the games after two days of rest. He was beaten. Then he was bruised in the All-Star game yesterday so he'll have to be stabled until about Saturday.

Has Pitching Problem.

Wilson will have to do some high class master minding for the next several days or he is going to be worse off for pitchers than he is under ordinary circumstances. The problem confronting him is a pair of double headers next Sunday and Tuesday at Brooklyn, and he naturally wants to have his best available for that series of five games in three days.

A Tiny Star.

Singing a song, we sat upon a planet's ledge,
Holding your hand, I reached to catch a tiny star,
To keep as a memento of our love.
But I have long since fallen from the planet's edge,
The moon no longer seems so bright, afar,
Yet ever when I reach to grasp for love again,
I'll brush my sleeve against a tiny star.

How darn bored I am with you!

The Bloomington star had a medal of 81 for 18 holes in beating her opponent, who three putted the 18th green to lose the hole and enable Miss Cline to square the match. The 19th was halved, but on the 20th Miss Otto missed a two foot putt for the hole and the match. Other quarter-final results:

CALDWELL UNION HOSPITAL 'FUND' OPERATIONS TOLD

Clerk Testifies Benefits Were Nonexistent.

A grocery clerk testified yesterday that bosses of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, local 1248, after taking in thousands of dollars in dance benefits for a hospitalization fund, informed the membership that the fund was exhausted, but that they would arrange for ailing members to get into County hospital at public expense.

The witness, Joseph Cohen, 4555 North avenue, a clerk at a Hillman's food store, told his story before Daniel Covelli, Circuit court master in chancery, who is hearing the petition of the union rank and file that suspended officials be forced to account for estimated collections of $910,000 in dues and fees.

Tells of a Union Meeting.

Cohen testified that he joined the union in November, 1938, and that Mike Pollack, recording secretary, presided at the first meeting he attended. [Pollack is a brother of Max Caldwell, former business agent and reputed czar of the union, who recently was unmasked as Max Pollack, a convicted criminal.]

"When the members started to ask questions," Cohen said, "Pollack got up and announced, 'The meeting is adjourned'."

Cohen then told how he and the 5,300 other members of the union paid $2 every year in dance assessments at Caldwell's notice. The receipts were supposed to go to the union hospitalization fund. At one dance he saw several hundred persons. Thus there should have been plenty of money in the fund, he testified.

"In June, 1940, when I needed hospital treatment," Cohen said, "I went to another union meeting. Mike Pollack announced that because of a shortage of funds there would be no more hospitalization, but that the union would get us into the County hospital if we applied to the officers.

Protest Ignored, He Says.

"I got up and said I had paid $4 for dances in 14 months and that the hospitalization fund could not have been consumed. I said, 'I don't have to belong to the union to get into the County hospital.' Pollack said, 'Sit down. You're out of order'."

Another Hillman clerk, Miss Ruth Siegler, 1615 South Lawndale avenue, said there had been numerous demands at union meetings that officers produce a financial statement, but that they invariably were silenced by Pollack's ruling, "You're out of order."

Meanwhile, Chief Justice James F. Fardy of the Criminal court issued a subpena on the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, 111 South Dearborn street, for all records of the union's bank account or any accounts of its officers for inspection by the grand jury tomorrow.

HUNT FOR CLEW IN LAKE RESORT SLAYING PUZZLE

Frank Cosentino.

Kenosha, Wis., July 9 [Special].—District Attorney John P. McEvoy today said he was sifting many wild rumors in an attempt to find something tangible on which to base an investigation into the gang style killing of Frank Cosentino last night.

Cosentino, 40 years old, married, and the father of two daughters, was shot twice in the back of the head at close range near the riding stable and restaurant he had operated for two years at Twin Lakes, resort village 30 miles from here.

The only concrete clews authorities had—a supposed tire mark clew having dissolved—were two .38 special bullets. One was taken from Cosentino's head in an autopsy today and the other was removed from a joist in his stable where it was imbedded apparently after having passed thru the victim's neck.

DAIRYMEN IN N. Y. AGREE ON ACTION FOR PRICE BOOST

Van Hornesville, N. Y., July 9 (AP).—Representatives of 90 per cent of the milk producers serving the metropolitan New York market agreed tonight on demands for higher prices they say are necessary because of drouth and mounting costs of farm labor.

While withholding contents of a petition for a greater return under the federal-state milk marketing authority, Owen D. Young, retired industrialist turned farmer, said officials of five leading producer organizations representing 55,000 dairymen had agreed on it at a four hour conference today.

The conference followed cessation of an eight day Dairy Farmers' union blockade which had sharply curtailed New York's 5 million quart daily fluid supply. Young said the petition had been given to attorneys representing the producer organizations for preparation for signature.

FIND 12 INFANTILE PARALYSIS CASES IN THE SUBURBS

Twelve infantile paralysis cases in Cook county suburbs in the last three weeks were reported yesterday by Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, director of the county health department. No case has developed in the city in this period.

There are three cases in La Grange and three in La Grange Park, two each in Western Springs and Park Ridge, and one each in Oak Park and Berwyn. One of the victims, a man, 35 years old, died early yesterday. The others afflicted are children between the ages of 5 and 14.

"The last cases reported in 1940 were in the western suburbs in October," Dr. Piszczek said. "It has been found that a new outbreak usually begans in the area where the last cases occurred, particularly if the latter were late in the year. The outbreaks are heavy every four or five years, and this year's is the heaviest since 1937. Up to June 30, the state department of health reported 34 cases this year, compared with 17 for the same period in 1940."

AGENCIES UNITE TO POOL LABOR FOR ARMS DRIVE

Plane Makers Back New Wage Plan.

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The Office of Production Management organized a labor supply branch today to handle the problem of providing workers for the nation's expanding armament industries.

Arthur S. Flemming, civil service commissioner, will direct the branch which will combine the functions of 12 existing agencies, and utilize present government facilities for hiring and training workers.

Sidney Hillman, associate director of the OPM, said that "a conservative estimate" indicated that 1,418,000 workers would have to be added to industrial pay rolls by next April to handle arms contracts already let.

Back Aircraft Wage Plan.

Representatives of the aircraft manufacturing industry announced meanwhile that they would support a regional labor wage stabilization program designed to assure "maximum and uninterrupted aircraft production for national defense" provided the government approves the program and "makes it economically possible."

The announcement, made by John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, gave no details of the program but it apparently referred to a suggestion by Hillman, that wage and hour standards in the aircraft industry be established by geographical zones, in an effort to eliminate work stoppages.

CLOSE CHRYSLER PLANTS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Four plants of the Chrysler corporation were forced to close thru lack of materials and 18,500 workers were made idle yesterday by a strike at the National Automotive Fibres, Inc., plant in Detroit. Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey said other automotive plants would be affected unless the contract dispute between the National company and CIO auto workers is settled immediately.

Another CIO strike closed the Wickes Boiler company plant at Saginaw, Mich., which manufactures boilers for army camps. Wages were an issue in both strikes.

AFL strikers at the Sealed Power corporation piston ring plant at Muskegon, Mich., were said by a union spokesman to have disregarded a request from AFL headquarters to return to work. The men left their jobs Tuesday in a dispute over a union shop and wages.

Two Companies Raise Pay.

Employés of two major industries in Connecticut—the American Brass company and the submarine shipyards of the Electric Boat company—agreed to accept proferred wage increases.

The brass company's 10,000 employés in Waterbury, Ansonia, and Torrington, represented by a CIO union, will receive raises of 8 cents an hour. Officials said that 8,000 employés of the company's Kenosha, Wis., plant also would get increases.

The Electric Boat agreement, ratified by a majority of the 5,000 employés, calls for 12 per cent wage increases, vacations with pay, and other benefits.

AFL electricians who walked off construction jobs at the government's Charlestown, Ind., power plant to seek higher pay elsewhere agreed to return to work pending negotiations with the war department.

Return to Disney Studios.

A return to work at the Walt Disney studio at Hollywood, Cal., was announced by eight AFL unions which previously had supported a 42 day strike of the AFL screen cartoon guild. After a conference attended by representatives of the eight unions and the studio, Vice President Gunther Lessing of the Disney organization said:

"We negotiated a standard basic motion picture AFL contract which included the union shop and wage scales. The cartoon guild strike continues."

More Millions Awarded for Plane Engines

Reports on Progress

Washington, D. C., July 9 [Special].—Progress of the preparedness effort on various fronts was summed up today in these reports:

The Office of Production Management announced that military aircraft manufacturers delivered 1,476 planes during June, an all-time record, compared with 1,334 in May.

Rear Admiral S. M. Robinson, chief of the navy bureau of ships, testifying before a senate committee, said the shipbuilding program was exceeding all expectations and that the nation would be turning out 100 destroyers annually by 1943 at the present rate of construction.

Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, said that preparedness commitments of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries have reached a new peak of 2 billion 819 million dollars.

Additional hundreds of millions of dollars were pumped into the nation's surging aviation industry yesterday. The war department awarded 20 contracts totaling $501,677,569 for planes, engines, and spare parts, and issued three letters of intent authorizing companies to start immediately on production of $126,000,000 of aircraft engines and parts.

The contracts were as follows: Lockheed Aircraft corporation, Burbank, Cal., [two], $92,602,290; Douglas Aircraft company, Santa Monica, Cal., [two], $44,857,948; Curtiss-Wright corporation, propeller division, Caldwell, N. Authorize Ford Project.

The letters of intent, which are to be followed by formal contracts, went to the Ford Motor company, Detroit, authorizing it to take immediate steps toward production of aircraft engines to cost $106,000,000; to General Motors corporation, Detroit, $8,500,000 for Allison engines, and to the Jacobs Aircraft company, Pottstown, Pa., $11,500,000 for Pratt & Whitney type engines.

The American Locomotive company was awarded a war department contract for $26,725,000 of tanks.

Meantime it was disclosed in Detroit that the Continental Motors corporation has started deliveries on an order for 9,000 Wright aircraft engines to be used in tanks and for training planes. The company expects to turn out 50 during the remainder of this month and to reach a volume of 600 monthly by October.

Pick Chicago Truck Drivers for Canal Job

Sixty Chicago district truck drivers have been recruited to operate a fleet of the "world's largest dump trucks" on a construction job at the Panama canal, it was learned yesterday.

Two companies have been awarded excavating contracts for the canal job, Panama Constructors, headed by S. A. Healy, who is also president of the S. A. Healy company, Chicago, and the Martin Wunderlich-Okes Construction company.

Order Placed in Chicago.

The truck order was placed thru the Chicago office of the Mack-International Motor Truck corporation. Costing more than $1,000,000, 40 trucks will be 30-35 ton vehicles; 26 will be 25 ton and 3 15 ton. Because of their size more than ordinary skill is required to operate them. Mack Truck's Chicago branch recently examined 135 drivers for the contractors.

Most of the trucks will be six wheelers whose engines will develop 182 to 200 horsepower in low gear.

The 69 trucks will help remove more than 50 million cubic yards of rock and earth to be excavated. Their total capacity will be 1,342 cubic yards. Working a 22½ hour day and an average of six trips an hour, the trucks will have a total daily capacity of nearly 182,000 cubic yards.

Contracts Cover Two Areas.

Panama Constructors has the contract for excavating the north approach channel—the Miraflores and Pedro Miguel third locks excavation on the Pacific side of the canal. Wunderlich-Okes will excavate the section connecting Gatun lake and the Caribbean sea on the Atlantic side.

The new locks will increase considerably the capacity of the canal and will provide for the handling of the largest passenger and battle ships afloat, it was said. Cost of the entire project is estimated at 275 million dollars.

SEC BARS 'WHEN ISSUED' TRADING IN A. T. & T. ISSUE

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission tonight warned against trading on a "when issued" basis in rights and debentures in connection with a proposed $233,584,000 offering of American Telephone and Telegraph company. The SEC said it understood that "a number of brokers and dealers are preparing to engage in such trading."

"When issued trading, either in the debentures or in the rights to subscribe thereto, cannot legally be undertaken," said an SEC statement, "until the registration statement has become effective."

Establish Record Date.

New York, July 9 [Special].—The American Telephone and Telegraph company announced today that its new issue of $233,584,000 of convertible debentures will be offered to its stockholders of record July 25 at the rate of $100 principal amount for each eight shares of stock held. The new debentures will carry a 3 per cent interest rate, be dated Sept. 1 and mature in 1956.

AAA STANDS PAT DESPITE REVOLT IN WHEAT BELT

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—Administration farm officials declared today they were unperturbed by reports of an agrarian revolt against an AAA penalty of 49 cents a bushel on "over quota" wheat because "an overwhelming majority of the producers are happy over the crop program."

Just back from a tour of the midwestern wheat belt, scene of meetings protesting against the penalty and source of many complaining letters reaching congressmen, R. M. Evans, AAA administrator, said the agriculture department was prepared to stand pat on the wheat program.

Some congressmen, however, were pressing for a change in the law which would put the penalty back to 15 cents, the rate originally established. The house agriculture committee planned to discuss the matter.

CHICAGO AREA STEEL MILL IS PLANNED BY JONES AND LAUGHLIN

Plans for construction of a large steel producing plant in Hammond, Ind., have been submitted to the Office of Production Management by the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, it was learned yesterday.

The company proposes to use 1,200 acres of vacant land held for several years in a development which would materially expand the Chicago area's steel producing facilities, an official said in Pittsburgh, Pa., where company headquarters are maintained. The land is near plants of the Inland Steel company, a large producer of this area.

Cost of the project has not been estimated accurately, but will be "substantial," the official said. The offer to construct the plant, with financing by the government's Defense Plant corporation, was made in response to a federal request for a steel industry capacity expansion of 10 million tons.

OPM officials at Washington, D. C., said that details must await formal action on the project. It was understood that other steel producers had made similar suggestions for plants in other parts of the country.

NATIONAL INCOME UP TO A RECORD ANNUAL RATE OF 86 BILLIONS

Stocks Falter, but Volume Remains High

New York, July 9 (AP).—The stock market for a time today gave promise of outstripping its performance of Tuesday but failed because late profit selling wiped out many of the earlier gains. It was, however, the second million share day of this year.

Index Closes Unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 43.2. Volume was 1,097,184 shares, against yesterday's 1941 record high of 1,387,673.

Board room sentiment most of the day continued colored by inflation discussion and Russian claims that German forces had been thrown back heavily on a number of fronts.

Higher in the stock list were Bethlehem Steel, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Eastman, and United Aircraft. Standard Oil [N. J.], Texas corporation, and United States Rubber reached new highs for the year. Woolworth dropped more than 2 points on a cut in the dividend rate.

FOUR SET NEW HIGHS.

Four issues reached new 1941 highs on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as prices moved substantially higher. Transfers totaled 34,000 shares. Of 103 issues traded, 56 advanced, 21 declined, and 26 closed unchanged.

The new highs were set by Chicago corporation preferred at 31½; Kellogg Switchboard and Supply, 9¼; Loudon Packing, 3, and Standard Oil of Indiana, 32¼.

First National Bank Stock Offering Oversubscribed

An offering yesterday of 2,400 shares of First National Bank of Chicago capital stock at $266 a share by F. S. Moseley & Co. and Smith Barney & Co. was reported to have been oversubscribed. Dealers said the stock was from the estate of Maurice L. Rothschild, State street merchant who died recently.

USE OF TIN CAN BE LOWERED BY 75%, OPM TOLD

Report Says Bolivia Will Supply Rest.

Washington, D. C., July 9 [Special].—The United States could reduce its tin consumption 75 per cent thru a broad program of substitution, and supply the remaining needs entirely by imports from Bolivia, a committee of the National Academy of Science reported today to the Office of Production Management.

Most prominent in a list of possible tin conservation measures recommended was the suggestion that silver be substituted for tin as one of the metal components in solder.

Sixty-six million ounces of silver used annually in this way would effect complete replacement of tin in solder. It would supply a solder at about the same cost as if tin were used, the committee reported.

Much Less Required.

Forty to 50 pounds of tin may be replaced by two and one-half to five pounds of silver, the committee said, and at present prices the raw material cost for such solder is practically identical with that of solder composed of 45 per cent tin and 55 per cent lead.

Substitutions in some lines, the committee said, would require construction of much special equipment, and at least temporary hardship, but the changes could be made in case of real emergency, it argued.

The committee estimated that replacement of tin in solder, plus the reduction in use already being made by can manufacturers at the request of OPM, would lower total tin consumption by 25 per cent.

Urge Glass Container Use.

Expand the use of glass containers where feasible; progressively decrease the total amount of tin allotted to the can making industry, fostering orderly development in the substitution of thin electrolytic tin plate and of black untinned steel plate for cans.

Invoke practically complete avoidance of tinfoil for wrapping purposes or tin for collapsible tubes.

FEDERAL LIFE INSURANCE HAS BIG SALES GAIN

The Federal Life Insurance company, oldest legal reserve life insurance company in Chicago, sold 23.8 per cent more new life insurance in the first half of this year than in the corresponding period of 1940, L. D. Cavanaugh, president, reported yesterday.

L. D. Cavanaugh.

June sales were not only the highest for any 1941 month but were also the highest for that month since 1931 and extended to 18 months the period in which the company has consistently exceeded new life insurance sales of the preceding year.

"Like everything else, life insurance is faced with rising costs at a time when interest return on investment is low," Cavanaugh said. "Federal is one of the companies that continues to credit 3½ per cent interest to its policyholders on their life insurance reserves. Most companies have reduced their interest credit to 3 per cent."

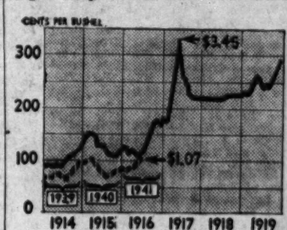
Food Cost Rise Follows 1916 Price Pattern

Market experts reported yesterday that current price trends of the basic food staples are almost identical with those of the World war period. They said that wheat, sugar, lard, cotton, and cottonseed oil are following a pattern strikingly similar to that prevailing just prior to the entrance of the United States into the last war.

Bumper crops and vast reserve supplies of these commodities, as was the case in 1915 in most of these staples, tended to limit rising prices when it appeared the United States might keep out of war. But since



[Source: Commodity Research Bureau, Inc.]

Wheat quoted yesterday at about $1.07 a bushel was still far below the 1917 peak of $3.45 but had recorded a gain of more than 30 cents a bushel in the last year. Meanwhile the department of agriculture predicts that by fall there will be a two year's supply of the bread grain in the nation's elevators and bins.

A large sugar refiner warned wholesalers this week to take delivery on purchases as rapidly as their warehouse space will permit because of the increasing difficulty in obtaining rail freight space. Sugar is up 75 cents or more a hundred pounds from what it was a year ago and at the Chicago price of about $5.30 compares with a World war peak of $19.

Cotton at 11 Year High.

Lard prices have doubled in the last 12 months, and are now close to $11 a hundred pounds, the highest the consumer has had to pay for the cooking fat in more than four years. Lard sold up to almost $36 a hundred during the last war.

Its principal substitute, cottonseed oil, is selling around $12 a hundred pounds, or more than it has at any time in the last 15 years. Manufacturers report cotton is costing them more than it has in the last 11 years. Cotton reached the 16 cents a pound level in New York yesterday, compared with a World war peak of 38 cents.

Flour has risen more than a dollar a barrel since July, 1940, the survey showed. Butter is selling 9 cents a pound higher than a year ago and eggs are up 10 cents a dozen. Smoked ham that cost 17 cents a pound on July 9, last year, sold yesterday at 26 cents wholesale. Cheese prices are up about 7 cents a pound and chickens are about 4 cents higher.

Commodity Index Rises.

The department of labor said that prices in the food group in its commodity index had advanced 6½ per cent in the first four weeks of June. At the end of last week the composite index for all food prices was 21 per cent higher than at the corresponding time last year.

REPORT BRITISH OFFER AN ALLOY DENIED BY U. S.

Radio Sets Pile Up for Lack of Item.

A Chicago radio manufacturer asserted yesterday that English metallurgical companies had offered to supply an alloy denied radio makers in this country by the government's strict priority regulations.

Eugene F. McDonald Jr., president of the Zenith Radio corporation, said that his company several weeks ago had been informed by a British producer that the alloy could be delivered here. McDonald said that his company had deferred cabling an order in the hope that the government would relax its regulations and enable domestic makers of the alloy to fill the order.

Needed for Battery Sets.

The alloy, known as alnico because it contains aluminum, nickel, and steel, is needed urgently by radio manufacturers in the production of permanent magnet speakers for portable and rural receivers. The radio industry has reported that thousands of sets, needing only the tiny magnet for completion, have accumulated in factories.

Alnico, for which no satisfactory substitute is known, is made by smelting companies under license from General Electric company, which owns the patent covering the alloying process. Government priorities created a grave shortage of alnico by withholding aluminum and nickel, needed critically in armaments. The radio industry has not received any allotments of aluminum since May, when it was allowed only one-tenth the amount it used in May, 1940.

Order Reported Held Up.

With alnico supplies dwindling in this country, radio makers had hoped to be able to acquire some of the alloy from English producers, and recently had been informed by the English that a supply would be available. Since then, however, some uncertainty has developed as to whether the promise will be kept.

It was learned that another radio manufacturer, which had placed an order in Britain for alnico, was informed suddenly, after the order had been accepted, that the British government had blocked shipment because of England's own need for aluminum and nickel.

McDonald reported that 10,000 battery sets have piled up in Zenith's plant, their completion held up by lack of the speaker magnets. In these particular sets, only 5 ounces of alnico is needed, McDonald said.

ICKES ASKS EASTERN GOVERNORS TO PUSH CONSERVATION OF OIL

Washington, D. C., July 9 (AP).—The governors of 16 eastern states were asked today by Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes to lead "a voluntary effort, having as its aim a reduction in the consumption of petroleum products by at least 20 per cent."

Such action is necessary, said Ickes, the defense petroleum coördinator, to avoid, or at least delay, compulsory rationing in the face of a threatened petroleum shortage on the Atlantic seaboard.

The governors were supplied with copies of the program just set up in the District of Columbia which recommends gasoline conservation thru reduced speeds and such methods as having a number of persons use one car instead of several cars when possible.

ASKS FARMERS TO QUIT SHIPPING STORAGE WHEAT

KansasCityElevatorSpace Nearly All Filled.

The Kansas City Board of Trade notified farmers and shippers yesterday that there was no more room for the storage of wheat to be pledged for government loans in elevators in Kansas City.

"Due to the unprecedented amount of wheat that has been shipped to the Kansas City market for storage, estimated at 80 to 85 per cent of the total receipts, the officers of the Kansas City Board of Trade regret to announce that the storage situation in this market is such that no more wheat for storage for loan can be taken in unless prior arrangements are made by each shipper to assure unloading upon arrival," the formal announcement said.

Doesn't Affect "Free" Grain.

W. R. Scott, secretary of the exchange, said the announcement does not apply to "free" wheat, or grain that is shipped to Kansas City for sale on the open market.

"The market is still in position to handle free wheat and other grains which are necessary to support flour mill operations and to meet ordinary merchandising requirements," Scott said.

Traders report that approximately 900 cars of grain a day are being unloaded in Kansas City now. It is estimated that more than 4,000 cars, totaling about 6 million bushels of grain, are on track awaiting handling.

Chicago Space Also Small.

The weekly report of the special trade committee appointed by the department of agriculture to furnish storage information indicated that at the start of this week Kansas City had space in commercial elevators for about 13½ million bushels. Part of this space will be needed for working room. Space is available in mill and other elevators for another 6 million bushels.

Small elevators in Chicago have already announced they will not accept "loan" wheat unless the government raises its storage rates.

John B. De Haven Elected President of Allied Mills

John B. DeHaven, executive vice president of Allied Mills, Inc., was elected president at a special meeting in Chicago yesterday to succeed the late Hinckley G. Atwood. Thomas G. Lovelace, Peoria banker, was named a director for Atwood's unexpired term. Harold J. Bulst, secretary treasurer, was elected executive vice president and treasurer. Elmer W. Lenz was elected secretary.

EVERSHARP.

I understand the Eversharp company has been making a comeback. What does its income statement show? —E. S.

Answer: Eversharp, Inc., is operating at the highest rate in about 10 years, and its sales in the first quarter of the current fiscal year were more than 100 per cent ahead of a year ago, the management reports.

However, the company sustained a net loss of $345,912 in the fiscal year ended last Feb. 28, against a net loss of $12,078 in the preceding fiscal year. The loss for the 1941 fiscal year was the largest since 1932.

The present company was formed in March, 1940, thru a merger with its parent, the Wahl company. The recapitalization plan effected at the same time eliminated, among other things, unpaid dividends of $933,237 and deficit of $904,387, and reduced annual preferred dividend requirements from $81,151 to $69,558.

Capitalization comprises 69,528 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $20 par value and 117,048 shares of $1 par common stock. Regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents each have been paid on the preferred stock. Nothing has been paid on the common stock of this or the predecessor company since 1924.

REORGANIZED.

I have a $1,000 American States Public Service company 10 year, 6 per cent convertible debenture. The certificate was held in the vaults of a closed bank and when it was finally released to me, I tried to cash some of the coupons. I was told, however, that they were valueless. Has the bond any value now and is the company in existence? —A. W. G.

Answer: In the reorganization of the American States Public Service company in 1936, when it became the American States Utilities corporation, holders of the 10 year, 6 per cent convertible debentures, with June 1, 1934, and later coupons attached, were entitled to receive one common share of the new company in exchange for each $20 of debenture.

You may inquire from W. G. Welmon, secretary treasurer of the company, 833 Market street, Wilmington, Del., whether you still can exchange your debenture for stock in the present company. An initial dividend of 15 cents a share was paid on the common last April 15.

GRAIN MARKETS DAMPENED BY PRICE WARNING

Soy beans, which have been leading the upturn showed the most weakness and dropped around 3 cents from Tuesday's finish. The close was at net losses of 2⅜ to 2⅞ cents with July at $1.52⅛ a bushel. Lard declined 22½ to 25 cents per hundred pounds.

Wheat Dips, 1½ Cents.

Wheat lost 1¼ to 1⅝ cents and corn was ⅜ to ½ cent lower. Oats closed off ¼ to ⅝ cent a bushel.

Deliveries of 640,000 bushels of soy beans on July contracts had little effect as a price making influence, as most of the beans were paid for by processors, it was said. Crop reports continue unusually favorable from the states that produce the bulk of the commercial beans.

Await Crop Forecast.

There was some evening up of accounts by wheat traders for a department of agriculture crop estimate, expected to be issued late today. It is expected that the official returns will show a reduction in the probable yield of winter wheat which will be partly offset by improvement in the spring grain area.

Trading in corn, oats and rye was rather light. Harvesting of oats is well advanced in the more southern sections of the belt and has started in northern Iowa.

PACKERS SUPPLY BEEF STEAKS AT PEAK JUNE RATE

More cattle were slaughtered last month to supply demands for beef steak and pot roasts than in any June on record, the department of agriculture reported yesterday. Meat packing plants under federal inspection dressed 867,141 head, compared with 737,974 in June, 1940.

The number slaughtered in the first half of 1941 was 4,941,911, a total exceeded only in 1918 at slightly more than 5 million.

Total meat production last month was well above the average for June, the department said. The 17 per cent increase recorded for cattle more than offset a 14 per cent reduction in hog slaughter.

The plants killed 3,336,052 hogs in comparison with 3,886,395 in June, 1940. Wit hthe exception of last year it was the largest June total since 1934.

Cattle	867,141	737,974
Calves	439,832	436,897
Hogs	3,336,052	3,886,395
Sheep, lambs	1,378,099	1,377,823
Six Months Slaughter.
Cattle	4,941,911	4,571,180

FEDERAL DAIRY DEMANDS TO BE STUDIED TODAY

A national conference between leaders of the dairy industry and officials of the agricultural and war departments will be held in the Stevens hotel today to consider steps required for the industry to comply with federal demands for vastly larger production and yet prevent chaos when the present emergency passes.

Dairy representatives from midwest, Pacific northwest and eastern states will attend.

Industry spokesmen report producers are alarmed that vast surpluses will pile up if they meet production schedules set by the department of agriculture. If the export demand should collapse suddenly they fear disruption of domestic markets would result.

HOLIDAY LOWERS U. S. OUTPUT OF ELECTRIC POWER

Electric power production dropped considerably last week as industry closed down for the holidays, but the decline was less than seasonally expected, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. The output of 2,370,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity compared with the all-time record of 3,120,780,000 in the preceding week and 2,425,229,000 in the corresponding 1940 week.

The output of the Commonwealth Edison group of companies aggregated 132,294,000 kilowatt hours in comparison with 149,224,000 a week earlier. Output was up 18.7 per cent from last year's 111,457,000 kilowatt hours, the company reported.
